Pistols taken from store, 2 youths stopped

Two Venice boys who tried to leave the K mart store, 3655 Nameoki Road, with two pellet pistols were turned over to Granite City police at 6:30 p.m. March 14.

The store's security officer alleged seeing the boys, 14 and 11 years old, each take a pellet pistol from a glass cabinet, place the weapons inside their pants and try to leave the store without paying for the guns.

The boys were caught after a foot chase. Both resisted the security officer and declined to give their correct names.

The guns, valued at $50 and $43, were recovered and returned to K mart. After attempts to contact their parents failed, the boys were released to Venice Police Sgt. Birt Reed. A request for juvenile petitions against the boys was filed by police.

Cannabis, traffic charges
Christopher L. Elmore, 25, of the 2900 block of Marshall Avenue was charged with unlawful possession of cannabis, driving while his license was suspended and failing to reduce speed to avoid an accident at 4:30 a.m. March 16.

Elmore was driving west on Denver Street when his car allegedly struck about 38 feet of guard rail and a post at the end of the dead-end street.

Cannabis was found in Elmore's possession at police headquarters, it was alleged. He sustained an injury in the crash and was taken by police to the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 6 a.m., but declined medical attention.

Gateway theft attempt foiled

A woman employee of Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza, 699 Illinois 203, foiled an attempt to get some quick cash when she quickly closed a cash register drawer on the hand of a man who had reached across the counter and grabbed several $10 bills at 3:25 a.m. March 20.

The woman told police the man came into the truck stop to buy a package of gum. When she opened the register he grabbed the bills and she shut the drawer, trapping the man's hand and yelling for employees at the fuel desk, she said.

The man pulled his hand free and ran out of the building's front entrance, getting into a car and driving off.

The would-be thief was about 18 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall and medium build, with short hair. He was wearing a lightweight beige jacket.

Driver issued tickets

An accident at the Cambridge Avenue and Fifth Street at 7:15 p.m. March 15 involved a pickup truck operated by Louis Britton, 22, of the 300 block of Watson Road, Eagle Park, and a pickup truck driven by David S. Smith, 27, of the 1400 block of Iowa Street, Madison.

Britton sustained an injury and was taken by Campbell Ambulance to the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment.

Smith, who also suffered an injury, said he was making a left turn and was returned to jail. Bail was posted and Elmore was released pending a court appearance.

Eggs thrown by vandal

Eggs thrown at a 1989 car owned by Laura Meehan of the 2900 block of Boston Place damaged the paint on the car, she reported March 14. The egg-throwing occurred while the car was parked in her driveway.

Auto passenger injured

An auto driven by Gregory A. Hildenbrand, 19, of St. Jacob Street, struck the median while attempting to make a left turn into north-bound lanes of Nameoki Road from the Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center at 6:30 p.m. March 14.

Deanna L. Headrick, 19, of the 2300 block of Clark Avenue, a passenger in the car, was injured and was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Hildenbrand also sustained an injury but declined immediate medical attention.

Sunglasses are stolen

An auto burglar broke a side window in a car owned by Donna Fitzhugh of the 500 block of old Rock Road, ransacked the glove box and stole two pairs of sunglasses March 14. The incident occurred in the 2500 block of Parkview Drive.

Madison

onto Fifth Street and did not see Britton's truck because the headlights allegedly were not operating. Two witnesses also alleged that Britton's vehicle was without lights.

Britton was charged with driving without headlights and driving while his license was suspended.

Man taken by ambulance

Gery L. White, 43, of the 1700 block of Sixth Street, Madison, was injured at 8:40 p.m. March 17 in a traffic accident on Edwardsville Road about 200 feet east of Gillespie Street. He was taken by Campbell Ambulance to the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment.

White's car was stopped, waiting to make a left turn, when the car was struck from the rear by a van operated by Charles W. Dary, 39, of the 100 block of Abbott Street, Venice, a report said.

Woman alleges battery

Eric Allen Gean, 20, of the 3800 block of Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, was arrested March 19 at West 20th Street and Rock Road for battery. Cynthia Marie Randall, 17, of the 2100 block of State Street earlier told police she had gone to Break Time Billiards, 1912 Delmar Ave., to talk to Gean. She said they left and walked to 19th Street and Delmar Avenue, where Gean shoved her several times and she hit him on the chest. Randall alleged Gean then pushed her against a wall and punched her in the stomach. Gean was released on $32 cash bail.

Boat propeller stolen

Melvin L. Hollandsworth of Briarcliff reported March 18 that a stainless steel propeller, valued at $25, had been stolen from a boat parked in his driveway.

Burglary attempt made

An attempt to get inside the Grand Cafe in the 1400 block of 20th Street was reported March 17. A grill had been removed from a kitchen exhaust fan in an effort to enter the cafe. The fan grill and other items were found some distance from the restaurant on a porch on Grand Avenue, where the occupants said they had never seen the items before.

Car windshield smashed

Pat Hagen of the 2100 block of Louisiana Street reported March 18 the windshield of her auto was smashed while the car was parked in the 2100 block of Lindell Boulevard.

Reports property loss

Marilyn A. Burns of the 800 block of Washington Avenue reported March 13 that several pieces of furniture and other items had been removed from her property in the 1400 block of Second Street.

Among the missing items were a blue loveseat, a blue chair, a brown recliner, two end tables, a mattress and box springs, a full-size bed, chest of drawers, a dining room set with four chairs, three dresser drawers and drapes.

Five windows smashed

Three juvenile boys were responsible for breaking five windows on the south side garage door at Lanier Courier Division in the 1400 block of Seventh Street. It was reported at 6:30 p.m. March 20.

Trespassing charged

Kim Lynn Johnson, St. Louis, was charged with criminal trespass to property when arrested March 3 at the Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza, 699 Illinois 203. She posted $100 bail and was released to appear April 6 at the Belleville court.

Burglar obtains drill

An electric drill was stolen from a van owned by Terry H. Means Sr. of the 1200 block of Kirkpatrick Homes while the vehicle was parked in the housing complex, he reported March 15.

Harassed, struck by man

Joe P. Tegel of the 2500 block of Lynch Avenue reported March 15 that he had his wife, Elizabeth, harassed by a man while visiting at an apartment in the 4000 block of Kirkpatrick Homes. The same man also struck him on the head at a car sales lot, Tegel said. License warrant served.

Driving warrant served

Mark William Carney, 25, of Fenton, Mo., was taken to the Granite City Police headquarters by an Illinois State Police trooper March 15 on a Granite City warrant alleging failure to appear on a charge of driving while his license was suspended. He then was taken by the trooper to the Madison County Jail in Edwardsville.

Unoccupied car strikes 2 autos on State Street

A car apparently left in forward gear continued moving after the driver got out, and it struck two parked autos in the 2600 block of State Street at 12:15 p.m. March 21.

Ethel M. Martin, 90, of the 2400 block of Benton Street said she stopped her auto at the curb in front of a residence and had left the car before it started moving forward. She fell to the street while attempting to stop the vehicle and sustained an injury.

The driver's door of Martin's car hit the rear bumper of a car owned by Rebecca Foote of the 2600 block of State Street, parked at the east curb of the one-way street. The Martin vehicle then crossed to the west side of the street and stopped against the left front fender of a parked auto owned by Joyce Jones of the 3000 block of Indiana Avenue.

Stereo, speakers gone

An in-dashboard radio and two speakers were stolen from a car belonging to David DeGonia of Pontoon Beach while the vehicle was parked at the home of Gene Baldwin in the 2600 block of Benton Street, the latter reported March 20.

SIUE park groundbreaking April 7

Ground will be broken Friday, April 7, on a 300-acre site at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for University Park, a research and training facility with long-range implications for the growth and development of southwestern Illinois.

The groundbreaking ceremonies will begin at 1 p.m., southwest of parking lot 9 in the eastern portion of the campus. SIUE President Earl Lazerson will preside and introduce federal, state and local officials, dignitaries, and representatives of growth associations, and other state, regional, university and community leaders.

Refreshments will be served following the ceremonies. In the event of inclement weather, guests will be directed to the University Center.

The initial project will include roads, utilities, grading and other site improvements under the direction of the Capital Development Board (CDB).

A budget of $1.6 million for the project was approved by the SIU Board of Trustees in July 1986, and the firm of David A. Loyt and Associates Inc. was recommended to the CDB as the design consultant. Funds for the project were provided by state appropriations in 1985 and 1986.

Lazerson has said the park is "a tangible example of SIUE's fulfillment of its mandate to assume a major role in the economic development of the region."

The on-campus location will aid expansion of the community service activities of the university and the business and government sectors of the community. The park provides another vehicle through which the university can carry out its mission of increasing knowledge and transferring the products of that knowledge to society.

Brian Donnelly, University Park executive director, said the park area, expected to gradually develop over the next 15 to 20 years, will be set aside for corporate, government and nonprofit research laboratories, training centers, and prototype manufacturing facilities. Tenants will benefit from the close proximity to the university and ongoing relationships with the institution, he said.

Donnelly described the new facility as a "mixed-use technology park," distinguished from the other kinds of parks in several ways:

"It is not an 'industrial park' because goods will not be mass produced there; it is not a 'business park' because it will not include general office facilities; it is not a 'professional park' because it will not include offices for lawyers, medical practitioners, accountants and others providing similar services to the general public; and although it will contain facilities such as running and jogging trails and bikeways, it will not be a park in the ordinary recreational use."

Users of the facility will construct their own buildings, according to university guidelines, on land leased for long terms from SIUE. The buildings will eventually revert to the university.

Phase One of the project includes master planning, construction of a four-lane parkway, buried utilities, and lighting. The infrastructure will include a flexible combination of both fiber optic and copper telecommunications capabilities to support high speed and high capacity voice and data transfer.

The project will eventually include 19 parcels utilizing about 90 acres of the 300-acre site.

REALTORS ARE HONORED: Three Granite City realtors are presented with plaques naming them life members of the Granite City Board of Realtors at a March luncheon. From left are board President David Stoll, honorees Everett Steele, Robert Warfield and Rep. Sam Wolf, and Ray Kaegel, a board director. The three were also named Realtors Emeritus of the organization.

Blood drive will be April 6

GRANITE CITY — A blood drive at the Kettler gymnasium at St. Elizabeth Medical Center has been changed from April 11 to Thursday, April 6. The hours will be 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

For the American Red Cross sponsored blood drive, donors must be at least 17 years old, in good health, and weigh more than 105 pounds.

Ruth Ann Gabriel, 798-3128, SEMC blood drive chairman, said, "In the bi-state region, 5,000 units a week are needed to meet people's needs at 140 hospitals in 80 Missouri and Illinois counties."

disabled to become productive, taxpayers citizens by showing employers their skills and abilities.

It is co-sponsored by the Parents for Special Education, the Madison County Region I Special Education District and Illinois Job Service.

Persons needing transportation to the fair may contact ACT, 797-0600, at least three days prior to the event. The cost will be $1 each way.

A NEW LOW IN LOCAL POLITICS?

A recent newspaper ad by "Friends of Mac Warfield" disparaged Hollis Donaldson, Democratic Precinct Committeeman, suggesting that he was being rewarded by the Mayor because he owed a large delinquent sewer tax bill. Those active in Democratic politics, which includes Mr. Warfield and his "Friends," know the financial and personal difficulties and tragedy that Hollis has undergone the past several years.

When American Steel closed, like many others in this community Hollis lost his job. Shortly after that, he had a heart attack and subsequent heart bypass surgery with no insurance and no job. After that, his wife developed cancer from which she suffered for several years. She passed away about a year ago after suffering horribly from the cancer.

With no job, no insurance, and a mountain of medical bills, Hollis fell behind in some of his obligations, such as the sewer tax. At times, as his fellow committeemen know, there wasn't even food for the table.

In spite of the hard times, in spite of the personal tragedy, Hollis has persevered, trying to make a personal contribution to the community, trying to help others, including the Mayor, including, in past elections, Mac Warfield.

To single him out in this manner in this ad caused Hollis public embarrassment. With the knowledge they had of his circumstances, what Mac and his "Friends" did to this good man was wrong. To do what their campaign did to Hollis demonstrates a lack of caring and compassion for another human being. How can Mac and his "Friends" expect that anyone will believe they will want to do good for the public when they so obviously have so little regard or compassion for the feelings and circumstances of another human being?

What Mac and his "Friends" did with this ad was wrong! What Mac and his "Friends" did with this ad was evil! What the "Friends of Mac Warfield" did to Hollis Donaldson was despicable!

Nameoki ups next-term salaries

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

NAMEOKI — Eyes bugged, jaws fell, and hands grabbed for imaginary waiting-in-line numbers to borrow money from Highway Commissioner W. Lee Adams as a resolution was read Monday night, setting his salary at $17,000 per diem.

Barring a write-in campaign, Adams, unopposed in the upcoming election, will maintain his elective position for the next four years. But at $17,000 a day?

As soon as the resolution was read during the Town Board meeting, Supervisor Harry Briggs Sr. requested that the resolution be amended to read "$17,000 annually," a measure that the board agreed upon unanimously.

Briggs said the commissioner's salary previously had been on a per diem basis but that it had been recently changed to reflect an annual salary. The change was not, however, completely reflected in the resolution. It was merely an oversight, Briggs said.

The salaries were set in accordance with Illinois Revised Statutes which require the salaries of township officials to be set for the coming term on or before the last Tuesday in March preceding election day. This year the election will be held Tuesday, April 4.

Salaries approved and becoming effective May 1 were:

Supervisor: $17,600, first and second years; $18,800, third year; and $19,404, fourth year.

Town Clerk: $9,825 each year during all four years.

Highway Commissioner: $17,000, first and second years; $17,850, third year; and $18,742.50, fourth year.

Trustees: $2,700 each year during all four years.

Road district treasurer: (part of supervisor's post) $1,000 each year during all four years.

Salaries approved and becoming effective Jan. 1, 1990, were: Assessor: $14,820 first and second years; $15,561 third year; and $16,339 fourth year.

Tax Collector: $3,600 each year during all four years.

David and Norine Noel

Couple celebrates 25th wedding anniversary

David and Norine Noel of Granite City celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary March 10 with a surprise party and dinner at the West 22nd Street Baptist Church.

The party was hosted by the couple's son David Jr. and daughter Sheila Noel. Others helping with the party were Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Teachnor, Ora Mae Noel, Connie Baugh, Marilyn, Scott and Jeff Wolfe and Bob Stroemer.

The basement was decorated with silver and white and more than 300 balloons lined the walls. Near the guest book was a large bulletin board decorated with many different photographs through the couple's marriage.

Dinner and a three-tier wedding cake was served to at least 100 relative and friends.

Bill and Bernardine Martin

Martin couple celebrates 25th wedding anniversary

Bill and Bernardine Martin of Granite City celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on Feb. 10 with an open house on Feb. 11.

Martin and the former Bernardine Lamczyk were married at St. Michael Catholic Church in Radom, Ill., by the Rev. John Teretka on Feb. 10, 1964.

Martin is employed by Trio Printing Co., St. Louis, where he has been employed for five years. He has been in the printing business for 32 years. Mrs. Martin is employed by Leader's Department Store in Granite City. She formerly worked for the former St. Margaret Mary Parish.

The Martins are the parents of one daughter, Diane Haugen of Granite City.

Drusilla Andrews holds meeting, hears new slate

The Drusilla Andrews Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held its March meeting at Jerry's Cafeteria, with nine members and two guests attending.

After lunch, a business meeting and program were held. In the absence of the regent and vice regent, Barbara Williams led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance and the Preamble to the Constitution.

Louise Webb read the president general's message and Marie Reinhardt presented a national defense report on "Why the Soviets Left Afghanistan."

Judy Schatz read the February minutes and two thank-you letters. One was from the national library thanking Webb for the book she had prepared titled "The Middleton Family."

The second thank you was from the Ellis Island Foundation thanking the chapter for its donation to enter the name of Drusilla Andrews on the Immigrant Wall of Honor.

The nominating committee presented the following slate of officers for the next two years: regent, Linda Koenig; vice regent, Sandra Wilkerson; chaplain, Jane Vanesler; secretary, Webb; treasurer, Williams; registrar, Emma Schoen; and historian-librarian, Mildred McCormick.

The election will be in April. A brief report was made by Williams on the Illinois State DAR Conference held March 10-12 in Peoria, which she and Koenig attended.

Koenig represented the chapter as its delegate as well as participating in paging for the three days.

Webb introduced her husband, B.G. Webb, a teacher in the Webster Groves School System, who was selected and honored as the Outstanding American History Teacher in his area by one of the Missouri DAR Chapters.

Afterward, Webb presented a program on her eight-year search for relatives and ancestors, which culminated last December as she finished preparing a 75-page book on "The Middleton Family."

Copies of the book have been sent to widely scattered family members and to a number of genealogical libraries as well as to the NSDAR Library in Washington, D.C.

The next meeting of the group will be at Jerry's Cafeteria on April 15, with each person attending to present parts of the program.

Besides those named, other in attendance were Alvina Thurard, Margaret Belt, Florence Simpson, Florence Woodward and Norman Reinhardt.

ley; and Mike and Diana Corrado, and son, Michael.

A musical program was presented Sunday morning by the Pontoon Baptist Church choir, under the direction of Ralph Craycraft. After the prelude by Maxine Green and Ann Rainwater, the invocation, welcome and announcements, the choir sang, "It Took a Miracle." The Rev. Kevin Kerr sang a solo, "The Day He Wore My Crown," followed by the choir's selection, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross." A duet, "Behold, the Dying Lamb of God," was sung by Lesley Chaney and Kevin Kerr.

Other selections were: a duet, "Love Grew Where the Blood Fell," by Ron and Karen deSuza; a girls' trio, Jill Chaney, June Kerr and Lesley Chaney, "Christ Arose"; and choir songs, "At Calvary," "Jesus Christ is Risen Today," "What Will You Do with Jesus," and several other songs. The message, "The Lord's Men — Thomas: Believing Through Doubt" was presented by Kerr.

Kelly Mack has returned to her home in Forest Park, Ga. after spending the winter with her mother, Linda Boswell and brother, Joe.

Big Brothers/Sisters honor service

Volunteers for Big Brothers/Sisters of Southwestern Illinois will be honored during a dinner at Great Katmandu Food and Beverage Co. at 6:30 p.m. April 10.

One hundred Big Brothers/Sisters as well as members of the board of directors will be treated to a gourmet chili dinner in observance of Big Brothers/Sisters Volunteer Appreciation Week.

These men and women volunteer to spend time, once a week with a child from a single-parent home in St. Clair or Madison counties, according to a spokesman. They become a friend and role model for their Little Brother or Little Sister and in doing so, help the youngster grow into a healthy, productive adult, the spokesman said.

Those who wish more information should call at 398-3162 or 666-9067.

Psalm 40:3 "And he hath put a new song in my mouth, even praise unto our God."

The mercies of God were abundant in the life of David, King of Israel. He has received an answer to prayer and God had turned his life around. David must have been at the lowest point of his life. He called it a horrible pit, full of miry clay.

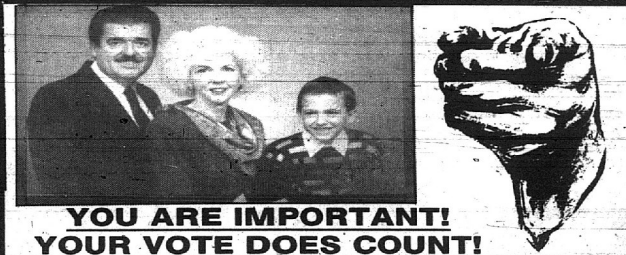

David prayed. He also waited patiently. We must not get anxious when we pray. Pray, then trust God for the answer. He hears you!

God brought David out of the pit. He put his feet on solid ground and established his goings. And God will turn your life around also. Nothing is impossible with God. Let Him bring you out. Today.

YOU ARE IMPORTANT!
YOUR VOTE DOES COUNT!

The needs of you and your family are just as important to me as my family. My concern is to help you, the people. I am not seeking the office of Venice Township Supervisor for any personal reasons, as a political stepping stone, or because I have anything against the current administration. I believe the citizens of Venice Township deserve only the best and I intend to do everything I can to help our low income families and senior citizens receive the help they so desperately need.

We all encounter roadblocks in our everyday lives, but we should never give up hope. With faith and good leadership we can overcome many obstacles.

I strongly urge you to vote for the party of your choice. Don't be misled by being pressured or bribed.

If elected Venice Township Supervisor, I will serve you and help you. Your problems will be my problems. Together we can help solve them and take away some of the burden. I have pledged to:

- Assist families in real need of financial help.
- Fight against higher utility rates and taxes.
- Work to re-establish the eye glass program for senior citizens and low income families.
- Hold public meetings to hear your needs and concerns.
- Establish a much needed Drug Awareness Program.

guest of honor was Grand Auxiliary President-Elect Kathy Gonzagowski. She spoke at the auxiliary's afternoon meeting, along with State President Stephanie Smith. There was a question-and-answer session at the meeting.

At the afternoon session, Granite City was awarded two gifts. One for Yvonne Gray and one for Flo Stokes for each signing up five new members. There were 97 women present from Illinois, one from Wisconsin and one from Iowa. There were 37 auxiliaries represented.

At the evening banquet, the Aerics Grand Inside Guard Raymond Schick was a guest speaker. There was dancing after the banquet.

Terrace Gardeners enjoy dessert lunch

The Terrace Garden Club of Granite City held its monthly meeting at the home of Marquerite Lexow.

After the business meeting, conducted by President Myrtle Hickman, a program on "Care of Gardeners and 'Caring for House Plants during Vacation'" was given by Olga Tarporff.

The "Pig in the Poke" prize was won by June Cuchna.

A dessert luncheon was served by the hostess to Ruth Ann Bartels, Tomasa Kirchoff, Nettie Miner, Ann Reznack, Mildred Jungels, Hickman and Cuchna.

The April meeting will be held in the home of Jungels.

Past presidents cited by auxiliary

At the first regular meeting in March of the Eagles Auxiliary, past presidents of the organization were honored, as well as the 60th birthday of the auxiliary.

Past presidents present were: Ann Hordesky, Mary Koscog, Hazel Pierson, Elizabeth Novacich, Deloris Kiehl, Florence Hagauer, Billie Schuler, Lola Barylski, Helen Lipchik, Ann Konopka, Kathleen Benda, Eileen Rickert, Vincine Zerlan and Yvonne Gray.

President Sue Oliver presented each past president a gift. Hagauer was presented a gift from Schuler, as she was Schuler's "mother" during Schuler's reign.

The auxiliary voted on three new applicants. They were to be initiated on March 28.

The visiting chairman announced she sent sympathy card to the family of the late Rosemary Kell. She sent get-well cards to Marguerite Vrenick and Flo Stokes.

Kidney Chairman Wanda Aiken announced she has 50/50 drawing tickets and also tickets for her dinner dance to be held May 13.

Ladies Auxiliary calls to order

The regular business meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign War, Pvt. Henry Ostendorf Post 1290, was called to order March 14 by President Shirley Brewner.

Brewner reported she and two other members attend the Voice of Democracy Banquet in Springfield. Mary Kay Culkin and Margaret Champion, marched in the parade to Lincoln Tomb the next day.

Culkin reported the three members also attended the 12th District meeting in Collinsville on March 11 and 12.

12th District President Beverly Beyer reminded members that the Department of Illinois President Evelyn O'Rourke's theme this year is "Progress through Programs."

Champion reported she received two requests for cancer grants from members this year.

Senior Vice President Barb Schrader reported cookbooks will go on sale in mid-April.

Home fishin'

Horseshoe Lake still draws fishermen from everywhere to its ancient shores

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

"There's no fishing in Illinois. Go to Missouri," said Elbert Branch as he lifted a nice-sized crappie from Horseshoe Lake. A stiff breeze put a slight chop on the water, which the sun turned to a sea of diamonds.

Branch, of Madison, was one of about 80 people fishing last Friday afternoon (Good Friday) on the one-third-mile-long causeway that connects the park's eastern boundary with a large island. Their cars and trucks lined the causeway as all kinds of folks — while and black, young and old — enjoyed the 75-degree day by drowning worms and minnows. And occasionally catching fish.

Most sat on the chunky rocks and gravel of the shore, but some had chairs. They fished with everything from ultra-light crappie rods to heavy 12-foot rods that looked stout enough to land a marlin.

The savvy (or maybe the earliest to arrive) were clustered around two culverts. Warm water filtering from the shallow south side of the causeway to the slightly deeper and cooler water on the north side had drawn fish in to the bank.

The lake has an average depth of about five feet, but it's only about 18 inches on the south side, so the water there heats up faster.

About 20 fishermen were clustered within 40 feet of each other on either side of the two culverts, making the scene resemble opening day of trout streams. Most of them were using little white, yellow or green artificial jigs suspended from floats.

Charlie Beattie, 68, of Washington Park, hauled in a 10-inch crappie, caught not seven feet from shore. He added it to the four nice crappies, caught that morning, which were swimming around in a bucket in the back of his battered station wagon.

"This is a fishing car," said Beattie, warning off inquisitive noses. Beattie, who already had the beginnings of a nice sunburn on his leathery, deeply creased face, said there had been even more fishermen on earlier days.

"It looked like a Christmas tree out here this morning, all red and green corks all up and down here," Beattie said, gesturing at a stretch of about 70 yards on either side of the culverts.

"If you looked away for a second, you couldn't tell which cork was yours. They ought to put in a few more of these pipes so everybody can catch fish."

A scant eight feet away, Raymond Parks, 53, of Pontoon Beach had what seemed to be the best spot. He caught some sort of fish every few minutes, it seemed: crappie, small drum, white bass.

Then he hooked into something bigger, something weird. The fish stayed down on the bottom for a minute, as Parks skillfully played it, his light tackle to keep it from snarling his neighbors' lines. Finally, he brought it thrashing to shore.

It was a grinnell of about three pounds — a strange-looking thing, long and slender like a pike, with a head like a skinny catfish's, dark stripes like those of a striped bass, and bright green fins and tail.

The critter flopped off his lure in about six inches of water. Its escape was fine with Parks. A grinnell is one of the few freshwater fishes that have teeth.

"They'll ruin you if they get ahold of your hand," he said and related the story of the first grinnell he ever caught. He hooked it in a bunch of moss, and it felt like a bass to him as he maneuvered it to the surface.

"I retched down in that moss to get 'im and I saw those teeth. I said, 'I don't need you!' " He snatched back his hand, then cut the line.

Horseshoe Lake State Park is located near Illinois Highways 111 and 162. The park comprises 2,373 acres. About 800 acres of the 1,200-acre lake are open to the public, with the rest privately owned.

Before the Mississippi River levees were constructed, the river would flood the bottomland, sometimes cutting new channels and leaving flooded oxbow lakes where it used to run. Horseshoe Lake was formed this way thousands of years ago. Its ancient age accounts for the lake's shallow depth. Silt and decayed vegetation have filled in the lakebed.

Archaeological evidence indicates Indians used the site for fishing and hunting as early as 8000 B.C. During the period of the Cahokia Mounds (800-1600 A.D.), the Indians relied heavily on Horseshoe Lake to feed a population of perhaps 35,000. Today, an earthen platform mound from that period remains in park boundaries.

Around the turn of the century, the lake was a popular weekend resort. "Yellowhammer" streetcars of the Illinois Terminal Railroad brought St. Louisans to two resorts on the lake, Stemmer's Grove and Moellenbrock's.

A combination of pollution from industries and increased ease of travel diminished the lake's appeal for vacationers.

Site Superintendent Lynn Wright said fishing in the lake has improved dramatically since the construction of Granite City Steel's wastewater treatment plant nearly 20 years ago.

"And we're getting a little more vegetation around the shoreline," Wright said.

He said the lake contained crappie, bluegill, white bass, largemouth bass, channel catfish, buffalo, drum, carp and bullheads.

Most of the bass are caught from boats in the deeper water or northwestern part of the lake, near where Granite City Steel has its wastewater outlet, Wright said. "I saw one fella with a 5-pounder and a 3-pounder."

Vickie Miller of Granite City said last summer she caught a two-pound smallmouth bass from shore where the causeway meets the island. Her husband, Allen, said he had read in a magazine that fall duck hunting on Horseshoe was the best in Illinois.

Wright said that in a few weeks the bluegill would start bedding on the eastern shore, parallel to Highway 111.

Elouise Timmons of East St. Louis was fishing with her grandson. She wasn't catching much, other than six-inch bullheads ("yellow-bellies"). But she didn't care. She knew the secret of fishing, which is that you don't have to catch a lot of fish to enjoy the experience.

"It's good for your nerves," Timmons said. "You can get away from people and get your thoughts together. When my husband was living, we used to go fishing almost every day during the summer."

Down the bank away, Charlie Beattie kept up a stream of small talk and wisecracks. An acquaintance who arrived too late for a good spot near the culverts walked up and demanded room.

"I'll let you have this rock for 25 cents," Beattie said. "It looks kind of hard to me," the man said.

"I don't know why it would be," Beattie drawled. "I soaked it all night. Fishermen nearby chuckled.

"If 'bull' were bait, worms would only have to worry about birds, not fishermen."

Just like the highway, there are some rules to follow

Following are some regulations governing Horseshoe Lake, as well as some of the state park's other features.

Fishing: There is a two-rod limit in force, with a maximum of two hooks per line. A state fishing license ($7.50, $15.50 for non-Illinois residents) is required for people between the ages of 16 and 65. The lake contains crappie, bluegills, bass, channel cat and a number of species of "trash" fish. There are no slot length limits; all other Illinois fishing regulations are in force.

Fishing limitations: During waterfowl season (late October through November), the eastern shore and the causeway are closed to fishing. Boat fishing is also forbidden during this time.

Boating: A 25-horsepower limit exists for all boats, and sailing is permitted.

Catamarans, paddleboats and rowboats are available for rent at the marina. Three public boat ramps are available.

Alcohol: Drinking alcohol is permitted in most of the park, but it is forbidden in the northshore area off the entrance from State Aid 35.

Camping: Camping is permitted in designated areas, which are located near a sanitary dump, pit toilets and water. The park can accommodate up to 48 tents or trailers. Campers must secure a permit from the park office.

Hunting: Besides duck hunting (in season), dove hunting is allowed on part of the island during September.

For more information, contact Site Superintendent Lynn Wright, Horseshoe Lake State Park, P.O. Box 1307, Granite City, Ill. 62040, phone 831-0270.

CRAPPIE FISHING IS GOOD for Charlie Beattie, who displays one of his better-sized catches.

WAITING FOR THE B-I-G ONE, Sidney Watkins holds a 12-foot pole usually used for river fishing.

NOT EXACTLY A WHALE, but a fish nonetheless, John Wilcox holds up a 7-inch yellowbelly catfish.

LIKE OPENING DAY OF TROUT SEASON, fishermen crowd the north side of the causeway.

Elvis: Can't keep a good King dead

Songwriters Mojo Nixon and Skid Roper said it all: "Elvis everywhere. Elvis is everywhere. Elvis is everybody. Elvis is the King."

He's the King of the tabloid, what he is. Twelve years after his death, people keep running into him and telling stories of their encounters to the tabs.

Well, somebody's telling stories, anyway.

The current issues of the Weekly World News and the Weekly World News each contains an Elvis story, course, so did last week's issue and so will next week's.

Elvis makes it into the tabloids with greater frequency than Bigfoot and sex-crime space aliens. I imagine it's sometimes these papers' editors sometimes screw up and forget to include the mandatory Elvis story.

"Stop the presses!" the screen. "You, Fishery! I smoke something and hallucinate an Elvis sighting. You got minutes!"

It's been a few months since The King was mentioned in a space, and I'm getting a little paranoid that I might be losing some readers because of it, not taking any chances.

But, of course, we won't any drugs. In Lost in Space, we "Just Say No." But if sometimes we say it a little slowly.

I'm as glib as the next person about some things. Why, I've been known to believe campaign promises of politicians.

I believe this one, courtesy Weekly World News Sure I do. "South American savages were so impressed with Elvis Presley when they met him in 1981 that they still wear his made Elvis wigs and dance jungle version of his tunes!"

Seems to be a tabloid rule: thumb that the first sentence every story should end with exclamation point. (e.g. Dog man and falls in love!)

Elvis died in 1977, of course, but he is reported to have been traveling the world anonymously ever since. The story says Elvis told the Brazilian natives to call him "King Elvis."

The story quotes "Dr. H. Bonjean, the French anthropologist," as saying the tribal ed donned Elvis wigs and jumped around shaking their hips "to singing their favorite Pres songs... It's the damndest I've ever seen," he said. I do say.

The Sun uses another story: Elvis — the King speaks from beyond the grave — gives us a new wrinkle by using another tabloid standard: reincarnation.

Elvis will make a comeback the paper says. "In the reincarnated form of daughter Li Marie's first child!" (Note: exclamation point again.)

Elvis' spirit supposedly spoke to thousands on a radio show in Chicago, through the person of clairvoyant and trance medium Diana of the Dunes, who told Sun readers months ago that Elvis was restless.

Diana sounded just like Elvis supposedly. I wonder if she'd Richard Nixon?

Diana (the only person in studio who could see the disc date Elvis) described him wearing two diamond rings and a gold lame suit. Elvis always was a snappy dresser!

"I intend to come into the world as Lisa's little boy there's so much I didn't do the voice said."

News of his imminent return should cheer up manufacturers of peanut butter and Moon Pie, not to mention purveyors of greasy kid stuff.

Radio listeners were polled their reaction. "It sent go bumps up and down my spine housewife allegedly said."

Just reading it about gave the chills. It reminded me of movie "The Final Conflict" What if reincarnated Elvis decides to get into politics? Would his legions of fans miss him a shoe-in for president?

well, I suppose I'd rather have him than Dan Quayle. The voice was asked how world would know the child really him.

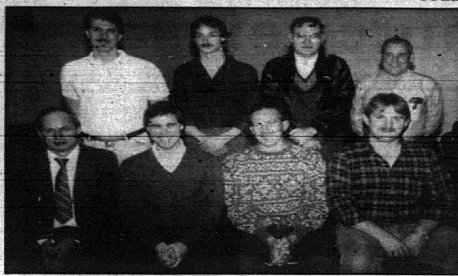

"I'll have natural sideburns the end of my first year" — what time he presumably weigh about 50 pounds). I'll want to own my pet hound before I'm 6.

I wonder: Will Elvis II come with a recording of "I'm a Big Boy's Girl" or "My Own Grandpa"?

First Baptist Church explores mission field

The First Baptist Church, 21st Street and Delmar Avenue, hosted the "The Madison County Baptist Mission Rally" March 16. The theme was, "What Holds Us Together."

The Meadow Heights senior citizens' Rooty-Tooty Band entertained during the meal. The Rev. Ivan Shoen presented the welcome and prayer. The Rev. Kevin Kerr led the music: "We've a Story to Tell to the Nations," "Tell the Good News" and "So Send I You."

The theme interpretation, "WHY?" was given by the Rev. L.D. Patrick. Avah Shelby discussed the "foreign field." Special recognition to officials and their spouses was given by the Rev. James Doom. The Rev. Jack Shelby spoke on "The World Today."

Jack and Avah Shelby, both natives of Illinois, were appointed Southern Baptist missionaries in 1988. He served in language study in Kowloon, Hong Kong.

The next meeting will be April 8 at the church for a pot-luck dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom (Nadine) Papp and Mr. and Mrs. John (Lena) Papp, accompanied by Esther Gilmore of Collinsville, have returned from a vacation in Florida.

They visited Tom's sister, Mary Ann Cowan, and her husband, Ken, in Fort Meyers, where they also went deep-sea fishing, visited the Shell Factory and toured the Edison Home. They also visited a former resident, Betty Sappington, in Tampa, and visited Busch Gardens there. Other points of interest were St. Augustine, Epcot Center and Disney World.

Mildred Diefenauer has returned home from Appleton, Wis., where she spent two weeks visiting her son, Leo Diefenauer, his wife, (Jane), and their family.

Members of the Emmanuel Baptist Church and members of the Pontoon Baptist Church held a joint Sunrise Service on Easter morning at the Emmanuel Church on Pontoon Road.

After the organ prelude by Maxine Green, the welcome and the announcements, the choir, under the direction of Ralph Craycraft, sang "It Took a Miracle" and the congregation sang "Crown Him with Many Crowns."

The Rev. Kevin Kerr led the responsive reading and the invocation. The congregation sang "Low in the Grave He Lay" and several heard testimonies on "Easter Gladdens My Heart, Because..."

The choir sang, "Jesus Christ Is Risen Today" before the Easter sermon was given on "The Resurrection Speaks." The concluding hymn was "Because He Lived." After the benediction, the concluding music was by Green and Ann Rainwater.

Breakfast was served.

Sylvia Massman and her niece, Lori Buchanan, spent the weekend in Piedmont, Mo., visiting Buchanan's sister, Tini Buchanan.

Doris Ross entertained the Pinocle Club in her home Wednesday evening. Finger snacks were served to Norma Vail, Sherry Mathews and Margaret Barr and prize winners Norma Minarec, Donna Hacke, Darlene Lakin and Louise Pittman. The next meeting will be held in the home of Sherry Mathews.

Joy Rowland spent the weekend with her daughter, Dawn Schoenberg, in St. Louis, and another daughter, Sandra Morgan, and granddaughter, Patty Dell, of Lenexa, Kan.

A Good Friday Service was held at the First Baptist Church of Granite City.

The Madison County Baptist Association, led by director the Rev. Kevin Kerr, sang, "He Has Surely Borne Our Sorrow" and "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross." The Rev. Ivan Schöen welcomed worshippers. David Trupp of Third Church, sang "At the Cross," "Were You There" and "Blessed Redeemer." Suburban Baptist Church members, Connie LaVelle, Fred Luper and Cheryl Schofield, presented a message in song.

The invocation was given by Dan Patterson of Troy Chapel. The sermon was given by the Rev. Fred Boatright, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, and the benediction was given by Elwyn Wilkinson of the Third Baptist Church.

Ravanelli's site of dining, plans for Nameoki Women

A luncheon at Ravanelli's Restaurant was enjoyed by the Nameoki Women's Club on March 15.

Following lunch, Program Chairman Delores Allen turned the meeting over to Elsie Rodell, who introduced Helen Kuenstler. She reviewed George Burn's book about his wife, Gracie, titled "Gracie."

Kuenstler has given several book reviews for the club.

The April meeting will be at the Harold Brown Recreation Center. Members should remember to bring contributions for Phoenix Crisis Center.

Mildred Jungels announced the Church Women United Program of "Music, Music" to be held at 2:30 April 4 at Neidringhaus United Methodist Church. Cost will be $2.

TO THE VOTERS OF VENICE TOWNSHIP
I believe the voters of Venice Township should be aware of what is happening in the Tax Collectors Office.
Casey started out by firing two senior citizen employees. Next he hired his daughter at a much higher pay scale even though she was attending school.
The collector bought a computer for $4,564.74 which they have no use for plus he hired an instructor who is Richard (Popeye) Patterson's son-in-law at a cost of $2,614.61 plus $1,995.00 in computer software, making a total expense of $9,174.35.
Last year during the period while taxes were being paid, Krakowiecki went on a vacation.
Casey Krakowiecki does very little to earn his $7,200.00 salary and I believe we should elect a retired individual like Edmund Warchol who can spend full time at the Collectors Office.
It's time to elect Edmund B. Warchol, a dedicated, hard-working and honest man. He is currently Treasurer of St. Mary's Boosters, Treasurer of Madison Lions Club, School Board member and Treasurer of Madison School District #12. He is also a member of St. Mary's Church in Madison, a member of A.A.R.P., Amvets Post 204 and V.F.W. Post 7451.
He is retired, and therefore would be able to be a full time collector.
PUNCH #81 AND ELECT A DEDICATED CITIZEN OF MADISON FOR VENICE TOWNSHIP TAX COLLECTOR
★ PAID FOR BY CHRIST PASHOFF

TO THE VOTERS OF VENICE TOWNSHIP
I know many of you read the article in the Granite City Press-Record where the headlines read "Madison Dumps Chris Pashoff" for Venice Township Supervisor. Christ was never given a valid reason why he was not endorsed by the organization for Venice Township Supervisor.
Everyone has told him that he did an outstanding job as your supervisor and he should have been endorsed for another term.
When he was dumped by Belcoff and his organization, he was facing financial problems because of his wife being in the nursing home and hospital and he felt he did not have the finances to run a campaign against the organization.
When Christ withdrew, he gave his good friend, Andy Economy, his support and endorsement. He decided to run for Venice Township Trustee to help Andy on the board.
At this time, we are asking the voters of Venice Township to vote for ANDY ECONOMY FOR VENICE TOWNSHIP SUPERVISOR, CHRIST PASHOFF FOR TRUSTEE, ED WARCHOL FOR TAX COLLECTOR, AND ED SALMOND FOR HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER.

'Better Breathers'

Club offers cushion of support to those with lung problems

St. Elizabeth Medical Center, through its Pulmonary Services department, offers a support group, the Better Breathers Club, for people suffering from chronic lung diseases including emphysema, asthma and lung cancer. The club meets at 1 p.m. on the second Tuesday of every month at the medical center, 100 Madison Ave.

"Members of the club benefit both educationally and socially, learning to deal with their disability," said Paula Gonterman, EMT-C Respiratory Therapy supervisor at 798-3122. "The more individuals know about their disease, the better they can deal with it."

The club also provides an opportunity for members to share techniques used in handling day-to-day activities. "For example," said Gonterman, "members may have trouble getting their laundry done, through socializing at the club, they can learn from other members how to get the chore done more easily."

The club also helps its members adapt to their situation in social settings.

"We stress to our members that if you need glasses to see — you wear them. Likewise, you need oxygen to breathe — you carry it. Socially, there is no difference in the two."

The Better Breathers Club began as an educational program in 1981, but soon evolved to a social organization as well. Many of the monthly meetings include guest lecturers who discuss such topics as income preparation for senior citizens, home safety, and allergies. Taylor Von Dee Cruse of Granite City has also been a guest speaker.

The social activities provided by the club include an annual Christmas party, picnics, and trips to the St. Louis Zoo, various art museums, and shopping malls.

Occasionally, the club has assisted its members in emergency situations through the use of fund-raising, helping members such as purchasing an air conditioner or paying a power bill.

The Better Breathers Club supports itself through voluntary fees of $1 a month per member, which helps offset the cost of the club's monthly newsletter. Members currently holding office in the club are Orval Hammer, chairman, Mary Hilkewicz, chairman and Shirley Endel, secretary/treasurer.

City stickers soon for sale

Vehicle stickers will be available beginning April 3 in Granite City. Clerk Bob Stevens has announced. Car licenses are $5 and motorcycle stickers are $3, he said.

Truck licenses are based on vehicle weight. Owners of trucks, vans and motor homes must show their registration cards.

The weight schedule: 1 ton, $10; 2 tons, $12; 2-3 tons, $15; 3-4 tons, $20; and over 5 tons, $21.

Licenses obtained by senior citizens are $1 per sticker, per vehicle, per family. "They must bring registration cards and driver licenses to the Granite City Township Hall to receive the discount," Stevens said.

Disabled persons may purchase an auto sticker at the city clerk's office and there is a limit of one sticker per family.

They must show driver licenses and proof of disability. Stickers are $1.

Disabled veterans may purchase a sticker at the city clerk's office with driver licenses and proof of disability. Sticker prices will increase May 15 to $10 per car and $5 per motorcycle, Stevens noted.

Truck stickers will increase according to a graduated scale.

City stickers will be on sale at the following locations:

City Hall — 2000 Edison Ave., City Clerk's Office.

Magna Bank — 20th Street at Edison Avenue; Bellemore Village Shopping Center; and Pontoon Road at Maryville Road.

Central Bank — 24th Street and Madison Avenue; and Shopping and Nameoki roads.

County will pay panel

By John Milazzo
Staff affiliate

EDWARDSVILLE — The Madison County Board, on a recommendation from its finance committee, will begin paying five members of the Madison County Housing Authority.

Finance committee chairman Bill Little, D-Alton, said the committee determined recently that authority members are the only county appointive board officials not receiving any compensation for their services.

Little submitted a resolution calling for the members to receive $50 per meeting up to a $700 maximum annually. The panel normally meets about 15 times per year, Little said.

County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer said he believes the payment is justified. "I can remember some years ago when the authority couldn't turn out enough members to get a quorum and we were hearing nothing but complaints. That isn't the case any more. I think this just kind of shows them that they are appreciated."

Housing authority board members include Reese Hoskin of Collinsville, Thomas Leffler of Edwardsville and Robert Dardman of Alhambra.

In other business, the board recently voted to pay owners of most of the county's polling places an increase in rent.

The board approved a finance committee recommendation calling for rent paid for polling places to be increased from $30 to $75 per election day.

County Clerk Evelyn Bowles said she believes the increase is overdue since, in many cases, voting site owners must pay added employee costs for janitorial and other services.

TO THE VOTERS OF GRANITE CITY

I usually don't get involved in politics or political issues. Now, however, I must in order to set the record straight on a number of accusations and distortions.

Mac Warfield has stated that if elected Mayor he would "restore confidence in the City's Police and Fire Departments by requiring professionalism instead of politics."

Not only is there no politics in the Police and Fire Departments, but there is more professionalism than there ever has been. It has been that way since Mayor Von Dee Cruse began appointing good, honest administrators of his own choosing.

His choice for assistant fire chief has an associate's degree in fire science and technology and is certified and registered with the Illinois Department of Transportation as an instructor in emergency rescue operations. He is the first chief officer with such credentials. Mr. Warfield called the appointment political.

Testing for appointments and promotions for both department is now conducted by professional educators with Police and Fire Department backgrounds. They tailor each test specifically to Granite City conditions and they alone know the questions and answers prior to the administration of the test. Indeed, morale in the Police and Fire Departments has never been higher. Ask any policeman or fireman whether he feels better about his department today than before. Then ask that same question of Mr. Warfield's employees in the Street Department.

Mr. Warfield has taken a lot of cheap shots and made a number of false statements and accusations concerning Mayor Cruse and the Police and the Fire Departments. The people of Granite City deserve better. They deserve the truth.

WE REPEAT

LET THE RECORD
SPEAK FOR ITSELF!

Warfield is so desperate to take over City Hall, he won't tell you the truth on:

SENIOR CITIZENS ACTIVITIES

Just look at the facts.

On AUGUST 6, 1985, just three months after taking office, MAYOR VON DEE CRUSE ESTABLISHED A SENIOR CITIZEN BOARD (Minutes of the August 6, 1985 City Council Meeting.)

This organization has met on a regular basis, contracted with Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville to assess the needs of our seniors, and together with Mayor Cruse, established a Granite City Senior Information and Referral Office in FEBRUARY, 1987.

This office has assisted hundred of our senior citizens with:

- Medicare • Social Security
- Supplemental Health Insurance
- Death Benefits

THE CRUSE RECORD SPEAKS FOR ITSELF.

Davis

Amber Christine Davis, 2 months old, of Pontoon Beach died Wednesday, March 29, 1989, at home, where she was pronounced dead at 11:30 a.m. by Deputy Coroner Ed Werner.

The infant and her parents were involved in a car accident at Nameoki Road and Manley Avenue on March 23, with all three treated for injuries and released. An autopsy has been scheduled to establish the cause of death.

The child was born Jan. 17, 1989.

Survivors include her parents, Albert Davis and Julie Lindsey of Pontoon Beach; grandparents, Carolyn Faulkner, Benton Lindsey Jr. and Lola Davis, all of Granite City; great-grandparents, Benton Sr. and Betty Lindsey of Granite City and James and Thelma Faulkner of Edwardsville; and great-grand-grandparents Lois Harp and Irene Starr, both of Pontoon Beach, Jessie and Rachel Keller of Patterson, Mo., Inez Miller of Granite City and Edna Davis of State Park Place.

Visitation will be held from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. today at Werner Chapel for Funerals, 3529 Lake Drive in Pontoon Beach, where funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday. Burial will be at Sunset Hill Memorial Estates on Illinois 157.

Illinois won, and he was asked if he was disappointed that a tournament rematch didn't materialize.

"I was scared to death of that," Goldenberg said. The implication was clear, at least to this die-hard Tiger fan: The best team didn't win Friday.

Goldenberg said he felt Missouri interim coach Rich Daly lost the Syracuse game. Daly let Syracuse go on a 15-0 tear in the

Mills

Georgene Arbutus (Peters) Mills, 75, of Keyesport, Ill., died suddenly at 4:29 a.m. Monday, March 27, 1989, at Memorial Hospital in East St. Louis, while visiting relatives there.

Born Oct. 29, 1909, in Clinton County, Ill., she had lived in Collinsville and Keyesport her entire life. In 1969 she retired as a registered nurse at Wood River Township Hospital, where she had worked for 21 years.

She was a member of the United Methodist Church of Keyesport, Sunlight Rebekah Lodge 709 in Keyesport and the Royal Neighbors Encampment.

Survivors include her husband, Wiley Mills; one son, Max Mills of Granite City; two daughters, Sandra Theis of Escondido, Calif., and Sydney Urban of Granite City; one sister, Bessie Emery of Titusville, Fla.; one brother, Cloyd Peters of Traveres, Fla.; 13 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Visitation will be held from 4 to 9 p.m. today at Zieren-Day Funeral Home, 1111 Clinton St., Carlyle, Ill., with Rebekah services at 7:30 p.m. Funeral services will be held there at 11 a.m. Friday, with the Rev. Donald Sabhart officiating. Burial will be at McKendree Chapel Cemetery in Keyesport. The family suggests memorials to the United Methodist Church of Keyesport.

second half without calling a timeout. Goldenberg was sitting practically on top of the Missouri bench, and he could hear Daly ranting to a tournament official about several calls made by one of the referees.

Goldenberg said Daly kept screaming, "Who is this guy? Is he from the Big East?" Syracuse is a member of the Big East Conference.

While Daly and the Tigers are left to ponder what might have been, it's on to Seattle for the

Schools

The second part of the proposal affects 19 students currently attending Webster who reside in the 600, 1700, and 3200-3500 buildings of Kirkpatrick Home. The proposal seeks to move these students to Marshall School.

While the move to Marshall would be mandatory for all incoming students from those addresses, it would be optional for students currently enrolled at Webster, Brinkhoff said. The same transfer policy suggested for Niedringhaus would also apply to Lake School, which is being re-opened as Webster closes.

"This would put all of Kirkpatrick Homes at Marshall School," Brinkhoff said. "This would be a flexible enough to move kids to Lake at a later date if necessary."

The third and final part of the proposal is that "Lake School remain Lake School and that the name Webster School be allowed to become part of the district's history."

While the name of the school has nothing to do with the redistricting, Superintendent Gib Walmesley said it was an important part of the proposal.

"There has been a lot of confusion surrounding this issue," Walmesley said. "We have to start identifying it as something."

Criminal trespass was charged against those who entered upon the clinic's land, an action which had been forbidden, a court officer said.

YOU MAY BE MORE CREATIVE THAN YOU THINK
There's a television commercial for a computer company that shows members of that firm solving difficult problems by asking the question, "What if?" In that simple television commercial lies one of the secrets of creativity, don't accept the fact that there is only one way of doing something, question the status quo.
A recent Nobel Prize winning physicist put it this way, "Creativity is seeing what everybody has seen and thinking what nobody has thought."
To think what nobody else has thought, you must open your mind and put aside all of your preconceived notions of how things are 'supposed to be.'
Since our early school days, it is drummed into our heads that there is only one 'right' answer to every problem. In reality, most everyday problems are open ended, with several options available to us. Certainly one option may be more appropriate than the others, but by the simple act of reviewing all options before arriving at a decision, we are opening our minds to creativity.
We further open our minds to the creative process by sometimes suspending logic and practicality. Just because a solution seems impractical, don't dismiss it without thoroughly thinking it through. It may indeed be impractical, but it also may be that, 'thought that nobody before you thought.'
Don't be afraid to make a mistake and have people laugh at you for it. Remember, until five hundred years ago most people believed that the world was flat and that the sun revolved around it. It took people who were not afraid to be laughed at to finally get that straightened out.
Finally, don't expect people to immediately embrace your new ideas. A wise man once told me, "The only person who likes change, is change."

Consumer forums focus on Bell's rate proposals

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will hold three free forums during the next month to help people become more informed consumers.

The public forums, focusing on Illinois Bell's proposed rate change, are scheduled Tuesday, April 18, at the SIU School of Dental Medicine in Alton; Tuesday, April 25, at Belleville Area College; and Wednesday, May 3, at the SIU at Edwardsville campus. All forums, free and open to the public, begin at 7:30 p.m.

The forums are sponsored by the Center for Economic Education at SIUE, the campus chapter of Students in Free Enterprise, and Illinois Bell.

Each of the forums will focus on Illinois Bell's rate restructuring which would charge customers for the cost of each local call, while lowering toll charges and reducing business rates. Representatives of the utility contend that the "plan would allow us to bring our prices and the regulatory process more in line with the realities of today's competitive marketplace."

A panel of experts representing the consumer, business, and Illinois Bell will be present to discuss the impact of the proposal.

Panelists include: Rosanna Herren, executive vice president of the Edwardsville/Glen Carbon Chamber of Commerce; Fred Konrad, assistant vice president, regulatory, Illinois Bell; Stephen T. Moore, public counsel for the Office of Public Counsel (a state consumer advocate); James Pennekamp, president of the Greater Alton/Twin Rivers Growth Association; and Bill Scoggins, vice president of Illini Federal Savings & Loan Association.

Get additional information by contacting John Sharp, assistant director, Center for Economic Education, 682-2242.

THE TAXPAYERS OF GRANITE CITY DESERVE A BETTER ACCOUNTING OF HOW THEIR TAX DOLLARS ARE BEING SPENT!

The accounting firm of Price Waterhouse, employed by the City of Granite City, has made many strong recommendations regarding the proper management of the City Treasurer's Office.

Price Waterhouse Recommendations

- "Perform a reconciliation of general ledger posting to individual ledger card postings for the City administered sales tax."
- "Perform periodic audits of selected sales tax returns to ensure proper reporting by businesses to the City."
- "The City should consider obtaining the advice of a professional investment advisor to obtain the highest return available."
- "Employees should be cross-trained to ensure that City operations are not interrupted."
- "Ensure the City has a complete listing of businesses required to pay city sales tax."
- "Strengthen controls surrounding the processing of cash receipts."
- "Perform an independent reconciliation of general ledger posting and postings to individual customer accounts for wastewater treatment facility receipts."

Some winners for your '88 tax return

By Sylvia Porter

The author is a nationally known business expert, writing for the Los Angeles Times Syndicate.

To help you obtain your greatest possible tax savings for 1988, I am highlighting several little-known tax winners that apply to those close to retirement, companies taking compensation deductions, and elderly couples considering the sale of their home.

Some of these winners are the result of legislation, some are the result of tax court decisions, and some stem from IRS rulings.

(1) Retirement Payouts: The Internal Revenue Service says retirement-plan members can defer payouts and still get a lump-sum tax break.

Until now, many plan members nearing retirement faced a tough choice: either take their payout in a lump sum or roll it over into an Individual Retirement Account.

If the plan members went the lump-sum route, they were eligible for favorable income averaging on the payout. But they still had to pay a tax right away in the year they retired.

On the other hand, if the plan members rolled the payout over into an IRA, they deferred the tax until the funds were withdrawn from the IRA. But they lost the income averaging break.

The IRS says a lump-sum payout (and the tax on it) can be deferred until a future year and still qualify for income averaging.

Reason: A payout is eligible for income averaging if it (a) represents the entire balance in an employee's plan account, and (b) is paid within one taxable year on account of the employee's separation from service.

The IRS said that the "taxable year" did not have to be the year of retirement.

(2) Compensation Deductions: The tax court examines top-dollar compensation deductions under a five-part test.

Compensation is deductible by a corporation only if it's "reasonable." If an employee-owner gets too large a paycheck, the government may contend that it's really a disguised dividend and, as a result, knock out the corporation's deduction.

When is compensation reasonable? There is no clear-cut answer; it depends on the facts and circumstances, according to Eli J. Warach, senior vice president of Prentice Hall Professional Newsletters.

For example: Mr. and Mrs. VanderPol were the sole shareholders of Van's Tractor Inc., the owner of several tractor dealerships.

Mr. VanderPol, as president, was paid a salary and bonuses of $181,000, $242,000 and $270,000 in three different years. The government claimed that VanderPol's compensation was excessive and unreasonable. However, the tax court ruled in favor of the taxpayer.

The court considered five points in making this decision:

•(a) Is the owner instrumental to the success of the company?

•(b) How does the owner's compensation stack up against the compensation paid others in the industry in similar situations?

•(c) How complex is the owner's job, and how successful has he been in light of the prevailing economic conditions?

•(d) Was the amount of compensation arrived at under an "arm's-length agreement?" Or if it wasn't, would an independent investor still feel that he was getting a good return on his investment after the compensation had been paid?

•(e) Is the compensation, particularly a bonus, related to services rendered? Or is it only determined after all the profit figures are in?

(3) Home-Sale Exclusion: Surviving spouses may get another crack at the $125,000 home sale exclusion.

The tax law permits home-sellers age 55 or older to escape tax on the first $125,000 of profit from the sale of a home. But this break can be claimed only once in a lifetime.

If a couple sells their home and one spouse had claimed the $125,000 exclusion before they were married, the couple cannot claim it after their marriage. Even the spouse who had never claimed the exclusion loses the opportunity to claim it. Since one spouse is ineligible, they both lose out.

But here's another situation: Mr. Brown, age 55, sold his home in January 1988. In June, he married Mrs. Brown.

The government says Mr. Brown can claim the $125,000 exclusion on his return without Mrs. Brown joining in. That's because they were not married when Brown sold his home.

Should Mr. Brown die before Mrs. Brown, she would be able to claim the exclusion on the sale of their new home.

State Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, plans a Senate resolution to rename Interstate 55 "Veterans Parkway."

State and their country."

A veteran of World War II, he leads the Senate Memorial Day service every spring.

"Naming a major interstate after our Illinois' and our nation's veterans is a small way to say thank you for the sacrifice they have made for their

"I am glad to say that once again there is a great source of pride in the United States of America and what we, as Americans, stand for."

WE REPEAT LET THE RECORD SPEAK FOR ITSELF!

Warfield is so desperate to take over City Hall, he won't tell you the truth on the:

UTILITY TAX

The OFFICIAL MINUTES of the Granite City Council Meetings show the TRUTH.

JUNE 18, 1985

Just two months after taking office, MAYOR VON DEE CRUSE BROKE A TIE AND VOTED TO bring an ordinance to the City Council to REPEAL the utility tax.

AUGUST 27, 1985

The ordinance was defeated by the City Council.

SEPTEMBER 16, 1986

The ordinance was defeated a second time by the City Council.

The only time MAYOR VON DEE CRUSE was called upon to vote on the utility tax, HE VOTED TO BRING AN ORDINANCE TO THE CITY COUNCIL TO ABOLISH IT.

THESE ARE THE FACTS

With the blatant disregard Warfield has for the truth, can we believe ANYTHING he says?

Weatherization funds offered

Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City has announced the availability of funds to weatherize homes in Madison County. The 1989 Weatherization program is scheduled to begin April 1.

The county expects to receive in excess of $675,000, which will enable it to weatherize approximately 300 residences. He urged persons to get on the waiting list now so their residence can be weatherized during this program year.

In light of recent announcements regarding utility rate hikes, low-income persons should find that this program can lessen the severity of these increases, Hagnauer said. The program aids income-eligible homeowners and renters by installing energy-saving measures at the applicant's residence at no cost.

Improvements include insulation, weatherstripping, caulking and furnace retrofits. These improvements can reduce utility consumption, which help those on fixed incomes to keep utility costs down, it was noted.

Madison County receives funding under the Illinois Home Weatherization Assistance Program from the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs.

The targeted population includes the elderly, handicapped, and other families that have annual incomes at or below the following guidelines:

Family size of: 1, $7,212; 2, $9,662; 3, $12,112; 4, $14,562; 5, $17,012; 6, $19,462; 7, $21,912; 8, $24,362. For a family with more than eight members, $2,450 is added to the guidelines yearly income total for each additional member.

Interested persons may contact the Madison County Weatherization Office at 1-656-8390 for further information.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

In some cases, an individual may apply for a loan or credit and be denied. This decision by the lender may be based on the potential borrower's credit history. A person's credit record is extremely important. When someone applies for a loan or credit, the lender will ask a credit bureau for that individual's entire credit history.

Credit bureaus gather data on consumers and then sell this information to lenders. Lenders use this information to determine in a given case whether an individual is a good credit risk. Sometimes people inquire as to how they can be sure that the information accumulated on them by the credit bureau is accurate.

If a person is turned down for a loan, the law requires the lender to give the individual reasons for this decision. If the unfavorable decision was based on information from a credit bureau, the person has a right to obtain the name and address of that credit bureau. The consumer can then contact the bureau and obtain a summary of the information in his file. If there are inaccuracies in the file, the consumer can challenge the information in the file and insist that corrections be made.

In one recent case, a man married a woman who had filed bankruptcy prior to their marriage. When the husband applied for credit after they were married, the wife's credit history was continually reported under his name by an Ohio credit bureau. Numerous loan applications by him were rejected because his credit file indicated a bankruptcy even though he never filed bankruptcy.

The man visited the credit bureau and attempted to correct the inaccurate information. However, the bureau continued to report inaccurate credit information to potential lenders. Eventually the contention of the Fair Credit Reporting Act.

The Court found that the damages suffered by the consumer were substantial. Each time he visited the credit bureau to attempt to straighten out his credit file, he had to take an unpaid day off work. Each of these visits was approximately 60 miles round-trip. In addition, he was humiliated and embarrassed by the employees of the credit bureau. Many of his friends and neighbors became aware of his credit problems. His inability to straighten out his credit problems eventually affected his health and his marriage. The Court awarded the consumer $10,000 for injuries he suffered resulting from the credit bureau's negligence.

Elect PAUL RAY BOWLER City Treasurer

There's more to PAUL RAY BOWLER than slogans and promises of leadership. Every candidate will make claims that he can make a difference, but only one has the accomplishments to prove it — PAUL RAY BOWLER.

Born and raised in Granite City, he has a list of accomplishments second to none in the city treasurer race. That's not bragging, it's a fact, and it's important to you as voters if you want someone who plans to give more than handshakes, smiles and lip service to the job of handling YOUR tax money.

BOWLER'S ACCOMPLISHMENTS DOES HIS TALKING AND THIS IS WHAT IT SAYS:

- 1) Present District 9 Board of Education member, highly endorsed by the Press-Record and known for having opposed the politics of certain board members because he supports the concept that education is meant to serve children.
- 2) 1984: Completed eight years as a Granite City Alderman. Prior to his election, the Press-Record endorsement stated, "Paul Ray Bowler gets our endorsement for his active role on the council the past four years and his tireless work, particularly as chairman of the finance committee."

10 REASONS TO VOTE FOR PAUL RAY BOWLER AS AN ALDERMAN & FINANCE COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN:

1. Centralized inventory to allow the City to buy at discount prices saving 29%.
2. New major Medical Program that increased benefits while immediately saving the City $140,000 per year.
3. Saved $54,000 per year on Worker's Compensation Insurance.
4. Found a clause in the City's trash contract that saved the City 1.2 million dollars over 3 years.
5. Computerized the City Treasurer's Office.
6. When the City Finances were bleak - made a motion for the Aldermen not to take their expense money which saved $8,400 per year and it passed.
7. Informed you on your tax assessment and provided you with the needed forms to lower your assessments and protest your taxes.
8. Fought against a utility tax on all of our utilities.
9. As Chairman of the Industrial Search Committee, attracted Heidtman Steel, Granite City Pickling and Eticam to our community.
10. While Planning and Zoning Chairman stopped all spot zoning and special use permits.

Cruse deserves election

Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruse has earned re-election, and we urge voters of this community to retain him April 4.

Despite the incredible negative hype thrown upon him by the camp of Superintendent Mac Warfield, we see no reason not to keep Cruse in office.

The incumbent offers a vision of what this city can become, with a rejuvenated downtown and improved transportation programs leading the way. But he also offers a more accurate litmus test: Granite City is in better shape than it was four years ago.

American Steel Foundries is going to re-open in May. Granite City Steel just announced a cast-iron investment totaling $140 million. A.O. Smith has rebounded. New military housing is going up at the local Army depot, and related progress is in the works. Surely everyone knows that those types of decisions rely heavily on belief in the ability and cooperation of municipal government.

In addition, new homes continue to flourish on our town's northern and eastern boundaries, an indication that developers know there is a stable future for Granite City.

Of the three candidates, Von Dee Cruse seems to have the only recognizable plan. Lately he has zeroed in on redevelopment of the downtown core. He has personally wooed Wal-Mart officials in Bentonville, Ark., several times, and been to East Peoria on many trips to see firsthand how that community redeveloped its city. Maybe getting a Wal-Mart at Madison Avenue and 20th Street isn't the answer. But he's got the right goal in mind and the proper determination. Warfield, on the other hand, scoffs at the idea, saying downtown development could never pay for itself. However, we've seen enough rejuvenation in other communities to know that it can happen. Would you rather have a man who is willing to fight for a goal or one who would sit back and wait for something to happen?

A lifelong resident of the city, Cruse has been mayor four years. Previously, he served as township assessor for 21 years and as an alderman for eight years. He served in the U.S. Army during World War II and was awarded the Bronze Star for heroic achievement in action.

It frequently takes four years for an incumbent to get established. The first couple of years Cruse was hamstrung, both by an uncooperative city council and a couple of bad choices as department heads. We feel the past year indicates he has gotten through that troublesome transition. The council is split almost down the middle between Cruse and Warfield, yet it hasn't handed the mayor a major setback in recent months.

The city has spent the last four years grooming a mayor who can lead this town in a second term. Electing Von Dee Cruse will be another step in that continuing path toward progress.

Warfield, Lupardus do not

To recommend Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruse is not enough. Constituents must also understand why his two challengers would not make better mayors.

Consider Mac Warfield. Here's a man who has been head of one of the most important departments in Granite City, the street and sewer division, for more than six years. Yet he has never developed a major, or any formal, plan for fixing those very streets and sewers. Instead the work crews have concentrated on fixing problems as they crop up. Many people call this crisis management.

Warfield also does not have a good working relationship with many of his employees, and despite what some would have you believe about the boss not having to be popular, we feel a good rapport is essential.

Because the street superintendent's job is elected and not appointed, the mayoral administration has no control over what gets done. The result during Warfield's tenure is obvious. As a result of political squabbling, the department did not repave a single street in 1987.

Warfield has been politically motivated in the past, and there's no reason to believe he will not give preference to his friends in key city positions. Some of those "friends" are responsible for the dozens of negative ads that have appeared in this paper during the last few issues. Let that be a testament to the character of both the friends and the man himself.

Another bothersome point: Warfield has the backing of the city's politically influential Partney family. That comes despite the fact that Alderman Dan Partney has publicly stated he will run for mayor in four years. Why, we ask you, would anyone support getting the incumbent out of office now and again in four years? Could Mac Warfield be "easier" to beat than Von Dee Cruse?

Warfield has virtually no other experience. He was an alderman for only two years, which is not enough time to build a working knowledge of city government. And if he intends to use the "successes" gained from his job in the street department, we have to see what the rest of the city will be like.

We should also point out Warfield had a short, tumultuous session as chairman of this county's Democratic Central Committee. Many Democrats were happy to see him go, when he lost his precinct committeeman's race in 1988. He lost as a result of a campaigning street department employee bent on getting him out of the office.

Also consider the second challenger, Archie Lupardus, a man whose inclusion in the race will do little but upset the apple cart. He has no political experience; no municipal government training; no support, financial or otherwise. He is a man who says frankly that he just wants to be mayor. But even the least experienced of candidates needs a plan, and he doesn't have one.

Lupardus, by the way, has said, "If you can't vote for me, vote for Von Dee Cruse; he's done a good job." Why, we ask you, is this man even running?

Other endorsements

The top choices for Granite aldermen

A group of good candidates — one of the best in some memory — awaits voters in Granite City aldermanic races next Tuesday.

Following are the Press-Record's endorsements: First Ward: Newcomer Dan Churavich will bring new blood into a ward that desperately needs it. While he has tried hard to represent his constituents, incumbent Casmer Skubish has lost his effectiveness in recent years. If an alderman can't get measures passed on a council body, he should be replaced.

Second Ward: Virgil Kambarian offers the best platform of the two candidates to fill the slot being vacated by retiring Pat Schuman.

Kambarian, a lifelong resident and a teacher in St. Louis, pledges to be an "accessible, forceful advocate" of city affairs.

Third Ward: We favor newcomer Andrew Timko, a retired grocer and a lifelong resident of the city. Timko has precinct committeeman experience and is a member of various civic organizations. He has the right personality to make him an effective alderman.

Fourth Ward: Dan Brown, though only in the city a few years, deserves the nod over the incumbent. An attorney and a growingly active member of the community, Brown is focusing efforts on drainage, traffic flow and street condition. Incumbent Sharon Perjak entered the race for re-election at the last minute, as though she were having trouble making up her mind. From her effectiveness in the last year, it appears she should not have bothered.

Fifth Ward: Incumbent Ralph Astorian has impressed since his appointment a year ago to fill the vacancy left by Jake Varadian. Despite being appointed by the mayor, one of his first votes was against a proposal by the mayor. That shows some independence that we like in candidates. Astorian has earned his first aldermanic election.

Sixth Ward: Incumbent Judy Whitaker is best suited to carry on the task of meeting the needs of her ward. In her first term, she has shown an independent nature. She has been active in community work, including service with the DARE drug abuse program.

Seventh Ward: Incumbent Jeff Worthen, who believes in comprehensive planning in the city, but has been frustrated recently by what he feels is slow progress in governmental affairs, is the best choice in a field of two candidates. Worthen also does his homework on council issues.

DeRousse top choice for city treasurer

Perhaps the most difficult choice facing Granite City voters next Tuesday is the one for treasurer. We feel Erv DeRousse is best.

DeRousse has been an excellent city inspector. He has not been afraid to stand on principle, and he has a good working relationship with aldermen. That will carry over nicely in the treasurer's office.

Incumbent Gail Valle, appointed 18 months ago by Mayor Von Dee Cruse to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Nick Petrillo, has not shown the toughness that the watchdog role requires. While she has done an adequate job, Valle has not displayed the type of leadership that is required of a position dealing so closely with the financial position of a city this size.

The third candidate, Paul Ray Bowler, has substantial qualification for the job, but he faces a problem of another color — sentencing for an earlier guilty plea to a federal count of making a false statement on a loan application.

While a suspended sentence would not constitute a conviction and would not preclude someone from holding public office, it is not yet known whether that will be the outcome. The fact that this matter is still pending inhibits Bowler greatly; if he is sentenced (without the sentence being suspended), he could not hold office.

As a former alderman on the finance committee, and currently vice president of the Granite City school board, Bowler would have the expertise to run the treasurer's office, but he would be better off getting the legal battle cleared up first, before attempting to hold further public office.

As a former businessman, Erv DeRousse has more than enough financial expertise to begin a distinguished career as treasurer.

Economy recommended for supervisor

Venice Township election competition in the Madison and Venice area April 4 focuses on the office of township supervisor, being vacated by Christ Pashoff; the position of tax collector, where the incumbent is seeking re-election; and four township trustee posts.

Supervisor: In a three-way race, we recommend Andy Economy, an experienced businessman who serves as a Madison alderman, a Democratic precinct committeeman and president of the Madison Volunteer Fire Company. He would, appropriately, concentrate his efforts on fair methods of providing general assistance to the poor, efficient distribution of surplus federal food, and active coordination of programs of benefit to senior citizens.

Tax collector: Two capable candidates are running. We favor Collector Casey Krakowicki of Madison on the basis of his experience in the office, including fast distribution of tax funds and successful computerization of the collection process. A teacher, he is a former Madison civil defense director and former police commissioner.

Trustees: We recommend Joe Asperger, a former Madison police commissioner and retired teacher, and the three incumbent trustees seeking re-election, Benjamin Honorable of Venice, John Piechinski of Madison and Joe Willie Young Sr. of Venice.

Assessor: Babette Mosby of Venice, the incumbent, has no opposition.

Highway commissioner: Eddie Lee Salmond of Eagle Park is unopposed for re-election.

Town clerk: Bill McGarrahan of Venice seeks re-election without opposition.

2 park commissioners recommended

Contenders for two six-year terms on the Granite City Park Board include incumbent commissioners Loman and Robert Austin. Any of the three candidates could serve well, but because of their experience on the board we recommend re-electing the incumbents.

Loman, a 38-year member of the board, is a semi-retired bank official with extensive knowledge of business matters, this community, the parks and local recreation facilities and programs.

Austin has held top leadership roles in the YMCA Soccer Association and Granite City High School Boosters and is familiar with needs of the softball, baseball, swimming, ice skating and senior citizen programs.

Williams, Haynes suggested in Venice

Those voting in the Venice municipal governmental election on April 4 have choices to make on two aldermanic offices, in the 2nd and 4th wards.

Second Ward: Our preference is the Rev. John Henry Williams, a past president of the Venice Park Board and of the Madison-Venice NAACP. He would devote considerable effort to neighborhood beautification, industrial growth and programs to reduce crime and violence.

Fourth Ward: We recommend Alderman Charles

Haynes due to his 10 years of experience on the City Council. His goal is to "make the city a better place to live."

There is no opposition for the other Venice city candidates:

Mayor: Incumbent Tyrone Echols.

City clerk: Incumbent Wilbert Glasper.

City treasurer: Incumbent J. Alan Gardner.

First Ward: Phillip White Sr., incumbent alderman.

Third Ward: John Ervin, incumbent alderman.

Elect Turner to park board in Venice

Three candidates are seeking a vacant position on the Venice Park Board in next Tuesday's election.

We favor electing Donald Turner Jr., vice president of the Venice-Madison Khoury League and a member of the Joe W. Roberts Youth Athletic Club. He has coached boys and girls in baseball and softball for the past 15 years. He would seek to establish an after-school and weekend activity and tutorial program.

Partney: 'former' Cruse supporter

To the editor:

I was one of Mayor Cruse's main supporters in his election campaign four years ago. But after a short time in his administration, I found out the type of person he was and all the people he had led to. And I found out first-hand. People cannot believe in and invest in a community if they do not trust the city's leader. This is a problem Granite City doesn't need.

After reading a few of Mayor Cruse's supporters' letters in the Sunday Press-Record/Journal, I felt I must respond. I have been one of the people putting together the ads for Mr. Mac Warfield's campaign. I have researched each one and know them to be the truth.

As for the fire department staffing, I know my brother, Dan Partney, compiled a long and complete report to the mayor and City Council, causing the increase in staffing for the fire department. This was done in response to Mayor Cruse's earlier statement in the Press-Record that he may look at using a volunteer fire department or contract out the fire service, causing an insurance increase for property owners.

It was also my brother, Alderman Dan Partney, and Alderman Jeff Worthen who implemented the paramedic/firefighter level, not Mayor Cruse.

As far as our community comeback, you can study any community that has had similar problems and find that after a bottoming-out, it will start on a comeback, no matter who is in office.

Don't let Mac Warfield take credit

To the editor:

For six years and four months I've lived a nightmare because of the sewer problems in my backyard.

Now I read where Mac Warfield is taking credit for the Insituform work done on the city sewers.

If the truth were known, I think you would find Mr. Warfield more of a hindrance to the repairs than a help. I know; I've dealt with him and his department for the last six years. His delay in making repairs in my backyard has caused my family and myself numerous hardships.

Can you imagine living for five-plus years with a sinkhole in your backyard, sometimes having raw sewage in the bottom?

Can you imagine being forced from your home for five days over the Thanksgiving holiday because a sewer break that existed for four years finally collapsed over your line?

How about having your son finding your family pet lying on the porch bleeding because he was

But believe me, the plant additions and reopenings were nothing but economics for the industries and had nothing to do with Mayor Cruse. I personally secured more help for American Steel through the state than Mayor Cruse did.

I also want to point out that seven of the names of the firefighters listed in Sunday's article have been retired for a number of years. The other names make up less than 10 percent of the fire department employees. How do the other members of the fire department feel?

Another letter was about our local treasurer's election. I have much respect for Mr. Miosky, but I really don't think he understands the laws of the state. Mr. Bowler pleaded guilty and is undoubtedly guilty; otherwise he wouldn't have entered such a plea. I have been told by various lawyers that once sentenced in May, even if the sentence is probation, he would not be able to hold public office until the probation is ended.

I represented the citizens of Granite City, for nine years, in a non-paying position as a School Board member and as a president. I tried to make the right decisions and best represent the taxpayers of Granite City at all times.

After studying the issues and candidates of this upcoming election, I strongly recommend that taxpayers consider Mac Warfield as mayor and Erv DeRousse as treasurer.

struck by a car after it went through holes in a temporary fence that was to be up for only two weeks. It was actually up for six months and was allowed to deteriorate, with no effort to repair it, despite numerous phone calls being made.

It's been six years and four months since the first break and numerous problems still exist.

When the repair was made, the ground was not sloped properly and now, every time it rains, it forms a lake in my backyard. This problem was reported by both my neighbor and myself over four months ago and again nothing has been done to correct it.

For the last four years under Mayor Cruse and Alderman Jeff Worthen, the city has grown and rebounded more than it has in the last 20 years. I would hate to see that progress end by the election of Mac Warfield, so I'm asking people to join me in re-electing Mayor Von Dee.

Criticism of Bellcoff 'uncalled for'

To the editor:

In reply to Kim Pierson and her "bare facts," perhaps "bare chest" would be more appropriate. Her attack on Mayor John Bellcoff was totally uncalled for.

For many years, Kim's grandmother and Mayor Bellcoff were friends. When her grandmother was in need, Mayor Bellcoff was her best friend. He was never too busy to talk to her on the phone when she was lonely or had a complaint.

He took the time to visit her at home and when she was in the hospital. He was there for the family in their grief when she died. He did not do this for votes because most of the family lives outside Madison. He did this as an act of a truly compassionate person.

Kim may know how to say a friendly, "Hello, how was your day?" but she definitely does not know how to say a sincere "Thank you." If she doesn't like the way things are done in Madison, she should seek employment elsewhere.

Here's one firefighter who disagrees

To the editor:

I would like to begin by saying that I respect the right of my co-workers to their opinion as I'm sure they respect my right to disagree.

I do, however, resent a bold, black outlined letter March 26 titled "Firefighters praise Cruse leadership" that is somewhat deceptive and misleading.

Not all firefighters are in agreement with the contents of the letter. The signatures appearing at the end of the letter represent less than 50 percent of the total active firefighting force in Granite City. Other names appearing at the end of the letter are of men who have been in the fire for a varying number of years (from one to approximately 10 years).

The letter might more appropriately have been titled, "Some, but not all, firefighters praise Cruse leadership."

Pete Fields calls Hawkins 'tireless'

To the editor:

April 4 is election day and I hope everyone takes the 15 to 20 minutes from their daily routines to vote. There are many good people who have chosen to run for office and their efforts deserve recognition. Let's all vote!

I urge the voters of Nameoki Township to vote for Helen Hawkins. She is a tireless worker for those who need the help of government. She has given much in trying to improve local government, and I believe she would strengthen Nameoki Township if elected to the office of township trustee.

Helen has worked hard to help fight the rate increases of Illinois Power. She has also been there to help protect our environment from the expansion of Madison County landfills.

I have worked with her and in my opinion she deserves to be elected.

PETE FIELDS, Glen Carbon

Some aldermen against salary increase

To the editor:

I would like to rebut a recent letter which told of the city council's approval of the mayor's $10,000 pay raise of 28 percent, the treasurer and city clerk's 16 percent, and the aldermen's 100 percent pay increase.

Mr. Dalton's letter should have reiterated Alderman Sharon Perjak's and my opposition to the mayor's raise. Likewise, the two of us and Brett Hanke dissented on the aldermanic raises.

The disparity existing today between people in our area, as at many locations in our country, exists because of wild raises in wages, annually widening the gap between the affluent and low-income persons plus those who are underprivileged.

Wild pay raises should not be tolerated. Will we be able to grant city employees a 16 percent, 28 percent or 100 percent pay increase in the next contract with the unions? Very unlikely.

We know we have a golden opportunity with the new 1-255 highway and expect "spinoff" development all around Pontoon Beach with this beginning. It is very important that our newly-elected trustees have a working knowledge of this complex program and a desire for growth.

To me, therefore, recommending that all voters go to the polls April 4 and elect the whole team of the Continuing Growth Party, Robert Vincent, Robert Abel, Don McNew and James Hill.

LOUIS WHITFIELD, Pontoon Beach trustee
Chairman, TIF Commission

Favors Pontoon Beach TIF development

To the editor:

In Pontoon Beach we have three political factions: Those who want no growth or change; those who want growth but spin their wheels with vindictive retaliation against individual personalities; and those of us who have spent long hours on the problem of how to attract growth, how to finance growth and how to provide streets and utilities.

We were determined to find a method that would cost nothing to the citizens of Pontoon Beach and would give immediate needed revenue. The Tax Increment Financing (TIF) system has proven to be the best way, but it is so complex that even some of our board members don't understand it. As a result, candidates for Pontoon Beach trustee have sprung up from everywhere against our TIF district, with tales of gloom and doom that prove only that they are confused.

Our TIF district works this way: The village sold non-obligation bonds. The developer bought the bonds with an agreement that he would be totally responsible for any default.

The highway frontage and a five-acre park became the property of the village. The village then uses the bond money to build the streets and utilities.

To pay for the bonds, all taxes that are generated from the business or residential development will be used; however, the present tax levy on the unimproved property cannot be used. When the bonds are repaid, tax money will be distributed.

All other taxing districts would lose nothing; however, they would also gain nothing until the bonds are paid except for the Mitchell Fire District which would by chance suffer a loss if a disaster would occur. We hope to come up with a reimbursement agreement with them.

We know we have a golden opportunity with the new 1-255 highway and expect "spinoff" development all around Pontoon Beach with this beginning. It is very important that our newly-elected trustees have a working knowledge of this complex program and a desire for growth.

To me, therefore, recommending that all voters go to the polls April 4 and elect the whole team of the Continuing Growth Party, Robert Vincent, Robert Abel, Don McNew and James Hill.

Encourages Madison voters

To the editor:

I am a former alderman in Madison for 22 years. I am asking all registered voters in Madison to vote for the Madison Progress Party, March 22. I have worked in city business with five of the people on the ticket.

The reasons I am asking you to vote for them are as follows:

•Mayor John Bellcoff. He first started in politics as a Madison School Board member. While he was on the board his primary interest was the children, what was best for them that the district could afford. He always insisted on hiring our home town people when a vacancy occurred and someone who lived here was qualified. This included all teachers, principals, and, of course, all noncertified people.

While a fireman on our volunteer fire department, when he was called to a fire he got to the fire as quickly as he could, and assumed whatever position that was necessary to extinguish the blaze as soon as possible. He was quite the hero on several occasions, but never brags about it.

While John was city clerk, his minutes of our council meetings were thorough, accurate, and were never changed or altered. His minutes were seldom if ever needed corrections, additions or deletions.

As mayor he has tried very well to serve our community in the best interest of all residents concerned. When someone complains that something wasn't done, he tries to find out what the problem was, tries to explain why to the concerned. John gives the most experience, qualifications and integrity.

•City Clerk William "Bill" Weidner. I first had experience with him when he took a test to become a police officer. Some politicians at the time wanted to bypass hiring him even though his test score was one of the highest made.

There were enough council members to prevent this. He became a policeman, wore the uniform well and proudly, and carried out his duties honestly and correctly. As city clerk, his duties are carried out in the same fashion. He has very thorough and takes accurate council minutes.

•City Treasurer Fred Bathon. I have never worked with him, but I know him well. His experience in municipal and county government is unblemished, and he strives only for accurate figures and decisions in budget proposals and expenditures.

•George Amisich, 1st Ward alderman. He has a college degree in education. I have worked with him on the planning and zoning ordinances requested by our citizens to later be voted on by our council. He was thorough and very considerate in all aspects of the requests made on the zoning board. He has very knowledgeable working experience to add to council decisions.

•Jim Caffery, for 2nd Ward alderman, and 3rd Ward Alderman Michael F. Vrabec will add youth, experience and awareness of the needs of young people. They are lifelong residents and are interested in our city's welfare. I haven't worked with these two fellows, but I'm for them.

•Charles Rockett, 4th Ward alderman. I have been on the council with him. He is for everything that can be done for the improvement of our city. He is considerate and cooperative, but he will demand to be heard if he thinks Ward Four is being bypassed or excluded from any citywide change for the better.

Rebuttal to relative-hiring letter

To the editor:

We feel it is necessary to inform the public of the actual facts and omit the fiction from a recent letter in the Press-Record/Journal titled "Cities hiring of Warfield's relatives."

•Fact: One brother-in-law on the street department was hired approximately 20 years ago. We think it is safe to assume his hiring had nothing to do with Mac being the superintendent of streets.

•Fact: The other brother-in-law (Les Nash, who is our father) is not retired from the street department. He is retired from the Granite City Fire Department, a fact that we are very proud of. He was a very good fireman and had a lot of dedication to his job. Our dad has been retired since 1974, which again tells the public that Mac had no degree in his hiring back in the 1960s.

We think that all information that goes in the paper should be accurate to the best of one's knowledge or otherwise kept silent until actual facts are found.

Oh yes, our streets were also cleaned on the day of the 11-inch snow as well as any other street we drove on. Thanks, Mac, and your crew for a job well done.

So-called growth no benefit to village

To the editor:

For 20 years I ran with the party that promised to hold the line on taxes, but something has happened over which I have no control. Our budget in the village of Madison has risen from $292,260 in 1963 to $793,990 in 1983.

Under the present administration the Village Board has raised the village tax levy by over 2,000 percent.

Trustee Bob Abel can hire his son as a policeman, with no job opening, no competitive testing and no advertising for job applications. Not only did this happen but he cast the final vote for passage.

sage. Is that a conflict of interest?

We can spend over $10,000 moving dirt off private property, sell our nine acres of land for $75,000, buy three acres for $87,000 and then give it and several more acres of land, on a 50-year lease, to private corporations, but they cannot abolish the utility tax for the residents.

This so-called growth has served no one. Sales taxes have been of no benefit to the average resident of Pontoon Beach, as far as I can see.

Let's end this nonsense. Vote for the "Concerned Citizens Party" on April 4. — Punch 22

Husband lost street department job

To the editor:

I am the mother of seven children and the grandmother of 10. One of my children is confined to a wheelchair because of his life.

In April 1985 the father of these seven children lost his street department job. The reason? He didn't support John Bellcoff for mayor. Unblemished record!

Where were you, Mayor Bellcoff, when this mother along with other Madison ladies spent many hours being very organized, one in particular, equipping the new ambulance with beepers and radio equipment for our emergency medical technicians?

I'll tell you where John and his unblemished record were — selling off our city's ambulance service for near nothing. Financial responsibility?

Where was John when this mother and other hard-working Madison mothers bought new chairs for the council room and equipped the fire station lounge so our firemen could relax during their long hours on duty? Compassion, integrity and unblemished record?

When you go to the polls April 4 and cast your ballot, think about the man who spent 7½ years in the Street Department. Think about the ladies who so kindly and generously worked together for the betterment of Madison.

That is why my family and I will be voting for Alderman Ron Grzywacz for mayor. Mayor Bellcoff's record will be unblemished on election day.

A good mayor and a good brother, too

To the editor:

In response to Mr. Mangiaracino's letter in the paper, he said he attended a political meeting where people were there who worked for Von Dee in the last election and now they want a change.

Why are you working against Von Dee in this election? Is it because you didn't get a good-paying job from the city?

As for the seniors at the Town Hall, I go there every Wednesday and deliver meals to the shut-ins. It looks like most people are real happy there. I think it is real nice for shut-ins.

I think it is real nice for those who go there. Of course, there are a few like Mr. Petish who want to run the place.

About the ribbon cuttings, don't you know the people that open their stores invite the mayor? Don't you know this means dollars for the city?

As for the tree planting, the mayor appointed a committee for this job. He's only doing what any good mayor would do for his city. I am sure the people he did see appreciated his interest.

What do you do for the city, Mr. Mangiaracino? The only thing I know you do is "criticize" Al McDonald's.

Now for the mayor: he is my brother. I am sure he has made some mistakes and he would do something differently if he had the opportunity. That is in the past. Let's look to the future now.

Mr. Warfield has done a good job with the street department, so let's keep him there.

My brother has done a good job for the city. Let's keep him there. Why change our city when it is in the black financially?

Who wrote your letter, Mr. Mangiaracino?

Ad by Warfield 'disparages' good man

To the editor:

A recent newspaper ad by "Friends of Mac Warfield" disparaged Hollis Donaldson, Democratic precinct committeeman, suggesting that he was being rewarded by the mayor because he owed a large delinquent sewer tax bill.

The ad also attacked Democratic politics, which include Mr. Warfield and his "Friends," know the financial and personal difficulties and tragedy that Hollis has undergone the past several years.

When American Steel closed, like many others in this community Hollis lost his job. Shortly after that, he had a heart attack and subsequent heart bypass surgery with no insurance and no job.

After that, his wife developed cancer from which she suffered for several years. She passed away about a year ago after suffering horribly from the disease.

With no job, no insurance, and a mountain of medical bills, Hollis fell behind in some of his obligations such as his sewer tax. At times, as his fellow committeemen know, there wasn't even food for the table.

In spite of the hard times, in spite of the personal tragedy, Hollis has served as a role model and a personal contribution to the community, trying to help others, including the mayor, including, in past elections, Mac Warfield.

To single him out in this manner in this ad caused Hollis public embarrassment.

To do what their campaign did to Hollis demonstrates a lack of caring and compassion for another human being. How can Mac and his "Friends" expect anyone to believe they will want to do good for the public when they so obviously have little regard or compassion for the feelings and circumstances of another human being?

What Mac and his "Friends" did was wrong!

FRANK LAUB, City Democratic chairman

Investing in coins can boost portfolio

By Bob Hardcastle

Coins as part of an individual's financial portfolio are a sound investment as they tend to appreciate over a long period of time and are easily converted into cash for emergencies.

For a long time, the South African Kruggerand was the only gold bullion coin available. It became popular after U.S. citizens in 1988 once again were allowed to own gold following a 35-year period in which the U.S. government prohibited its citizens from holding the precious metal.

As gold became more popular, Canada in the early 1980s began minting the beautiful Maple Leaf piece. In the mid-1980s, China jumped into the market with its gold Panda coin and the United States got on the bandwagon in 1986, minting a gold coin called the U.S. Eagle. The Eagle used a motif of the St. Gaudens $20 gold piece on one side and a nest of eagles on the reverse.

Australia then entered the market with its gold nugget series of coins.

Also, while Engelhardt at one time was the U.S. kingpin when it came to making and marketing silver bars, the U.S. Mint now makes a 1-ounce silver coin. This coin, which has a $1 denomination and carries a silver eagle, has become a hot item because it also bears the popular walking-liberty figure once displayed on the half-dollar.

Canada, after seeing the popularity of the U.S. coin, minted a $5 silver Maple Leaf that is becoming attractive with investors. Many experts in the investment field think the Canadian dollar will be on a par with the U.S. dollar in a few years, which would limit an investor's risk in owning the Canadian coin.

Platinum is another investment possibility that has increased in value over the years. Said to be 100 times more rare than gold, it primarily is used in automobiles and jewelry. It also has a volatility that can make or lose investors large sums of money in a short time.

Several nations produce platinum bullion coins, including Great Britain and the Isle of Man. Canada has the platinum Maple Leaf, Australia mints a platinum coin emblazoned with a picture of Koala, the famous marsupial featured in Australian airline advertisements.

At this time, the United States does not mint platinum coins.

Paladium, the family of metals that platinum comes, also is surfacing and gaining popularity as a bullion coin.

There are many coins for investors to choose from but only one overriding consideration: coins are for those seeking long-term growth.

Hardcastle hosts "Money Talk" on KKOK-AM (830) from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sundays.

Schnucks to expand with Illinois and Indiana stores

Schnuck Markets Inc. has announced plans for new stores in Champaign and Bloomington, Ill. The stores are in addition to three new stores planned for the Louisville area and a store in Evansville, Ind.

"Schnucks is excited and enthusiastic about these new opportunities for growth," said Craig Schnuck, company president. "We look forward to becoming members of the dynamic and growing communities of Bloomington and Champaign, and to offering those consumers all the amenities and services our stores are known for."

Work on the Bloomington store, a former Zayre discount department store, is slated to begin May 1, with completion projected for the fall. The Champaign store, set for completion in early 1990, will anchor a shopping center.

Other development will include a replacement store in Columbia, Mo. Schnucks will relocate to and expand a nearby Super Drug Store, which has 64,000 square feet of space.

In the St. Louis area, site work has been completed at Grand and Gravois, with construction to begin shortly.

A new store planned for Overland in the Town and Country area is also under way. That store will be a completely new building, and there is some demolition work to be done at the site. Schnucks anticipates an early 1990 opening for that store.

At Big Bend and Highway 141 in southwest St. Louis County, site work is being completed, and that location should open in the early spring of 1990. The new 65,000-square-foot supermarket will anchor a 90,000-square-foot shopping center, which had to be redesigned because Hwy. 141 was rerouted.

Home-buying possible after bankruptcy

Dear Mr. Campbell: Is there life after bankruptcy? My husband's business failed and we had to file Chapter 13. We lost everything. Now he has an excellent job. The monthly take-home pay is $3,000, with the prospect of bonuses. We have no debts.

How can we get back into home ownership? We must have a percentage as a result of selling. We came up with two plans: one, save like crazy and buy a lot. Move onto it with a mobile home and use the land as collateral for a loan to build a house. Or, two, lease with an option to buy.

J.B. Answer: There's nothing to be ashamed of in going into bankruptcy as a result of a failed dream. That's what this country is all about.

There's nothing wrong with either of your plans except that the idea of buying the lot and moving onto it in a mobile home sounds a little convoluted. There's going to be a credit check on you for both the purchase of the lot and for the mobile home. I think your best bet is to make a direct deal with a seller — and to level with him completely about the bankruptcy and about your current situation.

Either approach should work: your idea of a lease-option, or, perhaps, a land contract (under which you sell the title to the property until you have satisfied the down payment requirement). The two are very similar in many respects. I don't want to plant the idea that either route is going to be as smooth with respect to the going to require finding a seller 1) who has the sort of acreage and house you really want, 2) a seller who hasn't had any luck selling it conventionally, and 3) a seller who is also willing to take a chance on you.

Sure, there's life after bankruptcy and saving "like crazy" should be a part of the rebuilding process, too. The worst aspect of climbing out from bankruptcy is in knowing that, re-entering the real estate field, you've lost a large part of the negotiating leverage that you would have coming into it with a clean slate. But your bankruptcy was an honorable exit, not the consequence of going on a credit-card binge, and the only trick is to find a seller willing to accept it in that sense.

Dear Mr. Campbell:

We're interested in buying a home in the next several years. Is it better to give a large down payment (say 25 percent) on a $150,000 home, or 10 percent and invest the rest?

D.A.P.

Answer: Different strokes for different folks. By paying 25 percent down ($37,500) on this $150,000 home, and assuming a 30-year mortgage at 10 percent you'll end up with a $112,500 mortgage on which the monthly payments (principal and interest only) will be about $887.18. By pay-

About real estate

By Don Campbell

ing 10 percent down, and assuming a $135,000 mortgage on the same terms as above, you'll have monthly payments of about $1,184.62 — $197.44 a month more. Add to this the fact that, since you're paying less than 20 percent down, you'll have the additional monthly expense of PMI (Private Mortgage Insurance) which the lender will insist that you carry.

Now, what about this difference (between the $37,500 down payment and the $15,000 down payment) that you're going to have? That's $22,500 and if you invest it at 8 percent you're going to gross about $1,800 a year, or $150 a month. Unfortunately, the difference between your monthly payments (if you elect the 10 percent down payment) means $197.44 more out of your pocket each month — even if we ignore the PMI monthly premium or a deficit of $74.44. Keep this in mind, too.

By assuming a $135,000 mortgage, instead of a $142,500 mortgage, even at the same interest rate for the same 30 years — you're going to end up, at the end of those 30 years, paying your lender a total of $68,000 more in interest than you would have paid by taking on the $112,500 mortgage.

Dear Mr. Campbell:

I'm unclear about this $125,000 exemption on the gain on your principal residence. Do both the husband and wife have to be 55 or older to take advantage of it?

W.L.

Answer: Nope. It's an either/or situation. As long as one of you has passed that magic age you can remove Uncle Sam's bite on the first $125,000 of gain (profit) as long as it's been your principal residence for three of the previous five years.

But remember: Age notwithstanding, it's strictly a once-in-a-lifetime deal. If something should happen and the survivor remarries (or both of you, for that matter, in the case of a divorce) then the gain-exclusion has been used.

'Premier' opens and closes

WASHINGTON — Tepid response in St. Louis and Arizona test-markets led the nation's second largest tobacco company to withdraw a controversial smokeless cigarette from outlets while the company researches ways to make the product more palatable.

"Customers did not find the taste acceptable, and there were complaints about the aroma of the product," said a spokesman for R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. said of its Premier cigarette, which was test-marketed beginning in October. "We won't reintroduce it, or any similar product, until we have solved these problems."

Reynolds, Winston-Salem, N.C.-based subsidiary of R.J.R. Nabisco Inc., developed the product after smokers expressed "a great deal" of interest in a cigarette that would generate less tar and nicotine than traditional cigarettes. Anti-smoking groups had complained that Premier was as unhealthful to use as any other cigarette, though it was being marketed as having "lighter" smoke. They also believed the "Federal Drug Administration should have approved the product before it was test-marketed."

"Obviously, we are delighted that it was withdrawn," said Elaine Chapnick, a spokesman for the American Lung Association. "We suspect it might have an even worse effect on the lungs than conventional cigarettes, because of other chemicals that were introduced."

The cigarette was not actually smokeless—it generated less smoke than a normal cigarette because the tobacco was heated instead of burned, Fishel said. Exhaled smoke from the Premier cigarette was also much lighter than normal cigarette smoke, he said.

Fishel would not comment on how far sales fell short of corporate hopes, or how much the company has spent to develop and test-market the product.

Industry experts have estimated that Reynolds spent several million dollars on market research and development and spent another $325 million to manufacture Premier.

Reynolds already test-marketed two similar cigarettes based on the technology that led to Premier's development: a low-smoke cigarette called Vantage Excel, and a cigarette with a "fresh aroma" called Chelsea.

Glik opens another store

Glik Stores have announced the opening of their 25th store location. The men's and ladies' sportswear store called Glik's opened in March in Gannon Plaza at Festus, Mo.

The family-owned Glik Stores operate apparel stores in Missouri and Illinois. The company is based in Granite City.

2 finish first-aid instruction

Steven Doty and David Dunard, representatives of Rite Electric Co., Granite City, have completed the American Red Cross standard first-aid course, designed to train citizens the first-aid skills needed to act as the first vital link in the emergency medical services system.

The newly redesigned course features the use of a videotape to supplement the instruction, as well as practice sessions with the "Chris Clean" lifelike mannequin. The mannequin is used in the emergency breathing, obstructed airway and cardiopulmonary resuscitation techniques. Training also includes first-aid steps for bleeding and shock, fractures, burns (heat, electrical and chemical), eye and nose injuries, bites and stings, poisoning, diabetic emergencies, and temperature extremes.

Upon completion of the eight-hour course, participants receive adult CPR and standard first-aid cards. They also fulfill one of the major requirements of the Occupational Safety and Health Act and the OSHA standards for the construction industry, by having at least one person trained in first-aid present on each jobsite.

Before you move, try thinking like a Boy Scout: Be prepared

By Ellen O'Brien

There is little doubt that Americans are on the move. Whether moving from an apartment to a new apartment, or from an apartment to home or home, moving is no simple matter.

With careful planning, however, your transition can be organized and efficient, allowing you the peace of mind you need to settle into your home.

Planning should begin at least one month in advance. Confirm with your real estate agent your closing date before scheduling your moving date. If you are renting, confirm your move-in date. Make a list of all records that must be transferred to a new home, such as school records, and financial and medical records, and plan accordingly.

Whether moving two blocks or 2,000 miles, decide what must go with you. This may be a good time to do a serious cleaning of the closets or the basement where you've been storing your valuables. It can be expensive and time-consuming to move things you really don't need, or worse, to find that there's no place to put them in your new home. If you are disposing of a large number of items, consider holding a garage sale or moving sale to offset some of your moving expenses. If you're donating items to charitable organizations, ask for a receipt for tax purposes.

Send a change of address cards, available free at the post office, to magazine publishers and other organizations with which you are affiliated. Most magazines request to be notified four to six weeks in advance. Provide change-of-address notice on credit-card bills and leave forwarding instructions with the post office. Let your friends and neighbors know of your new address. This also is a good time to request help you may need with packing and moving. If you are moving yourself, schedule a moving party, providing pizza and beverages for anyone who can help.

Take inventory of items you may have borrowed from someone or lent to someone; return what is not yours and retrieve what is. Arrange for a hedge trimmer across the miles to its owner, will be expensive as well as a nightmare to package. Dispose of flammable liquids, such as gasoline or oil. Is there gasoline in your lawn mower?

Two weeks before you move, contact local utility companies to advise of a date to disconnect gas, water and telephone service in your new home. Clear up outstanding accounts, particularly if you are leaving the area. Plan carefully for the transfer of checking and savings accounts. Open an account in advance in your new community so you have access to money, but make sure your old account stays open until all checks have cleared.

If you are driving a distance, service your car before you move. Car problems in an unfamiliar community can be troublesome. This also is a good time to make appointments with doctors and dentists, arranging for a final check-up and discussing potential problems of which to advise a new doctor. Begin packing early, particularly those items seldom used. If you have hired a moving company, request boxes and packing materials from a grocery store or drug store as a good source for boxes for the do-it-yourself mover. Ask for boxes in advance. Smaller stores may receive shipments only once a week and will only give away boxes if you are there at a specified time to pick them up. Collect both large and small boxes, keeping in mind that filling a large box with books or records will make them very heavy. Photocopy paper boxes make excellent moving boxes because of their strength and lids that fit well. If you do not have access to such boxes check with friends. Large offices empty these boxes on a daily basis.

Have plenty of packing supplies handy. Save old newspapers for packing material. For delicate items, you may want to purchase special packing boxes or materials to ensure safe transport. Wardrobe boxes may be purchased for hanging clothes at many trailer rental locations.

Be creative in your packing, particularly with odd-sized or fragile items. For example, move mattresses with old sheets on them as a protection from dirt. An antique floor lamp rolled up in a rug, or a crystal decanter packed in the middle of bath towels adds increased protection.

Of course, creative packing can lead to frustration when unpacking. Make sure your boxes are clearly labeled with their contents. Mark boxes "fragile" that have breakable items.

The event was coordinated by Prather physical education teachers Sharon Shaffner and Leigh Heller.

Scholarship drive launched

Hometown help for Belleville Area College students is one goal of the Belleville Area College Foundation's new scholarship program.

"We're seeking $500 or $1,000 scholarships from clubs and organizations in our 2,100 square mile district," said Foundation Board Member and Scholarship Chairman Lucille Davis.

The scholarships will bear the names of the donating clubs and may be renewable each year. Clubs will determine criteria and select the scholarship recipient.

The $500 scholarship is for a part-time student's tuition for two semesters, while the $1,000 scholarship is for a full-time student's tuition for two semesters.

Currently the college charges $30 per credit hour for most of its classes.

"We know our community organizations exist to help others, and this is another excellent opportunity to match a deserving individual's need with a club goal," Mrs. Davis said.

Many of the scholarships are expected to be awarded to returning adult students who may not qualify for standard financial aid, but who, nonetheless, have difficulty including the tuition cost in their family budgets.

"We're finding an increasing number of older adults enrolling in college credit classes while trying to hold down full-time jobs and meet family needs," said college president Dr. Joseph J. Cipri. "This is difficult for these students — scholarships like these can make the difference."

Letters announcing the scholarship program are being mailed.

Scholarships collected between now and June 30 will be available for use in the fall.

Additional information is available by calling the Foundation office at 235-2700, ext. 215, or toll-free (in Illinois) 1-800-SAC-5151, ext. 215.

SIUE offering 3 art classes to children

The department of art and design of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will continue its art classes for children on Saturday mornings during the spring quarter, April 1 through June 10.

The art education program, "Saturday Studio," consists of three classes, primary children, intermediate, and drawing/painting for high school junior and senior students. Classes will be conducted at the main SIUE campus and at the Wagner Complex in Edwardsville.

Area school services defended as essential

GRANITE CITY — Speaking out on the negative impact that House Bill 477 could have on Madison County schools, Regional Superintendent of Schools Harry A. Briggs Jr. of Granite City has voiced a number of objections to the bill. It calls for abolishing regional superintendents, turning the powers and duties over to the State Board of Education.

Briggs said that in Madison County, local school districts perceive the regional office as a loyal and supportive partner in maintaining programs that directly benefit the 48,500 public and non-public school-aged students in this county.

As examples, he cited the Educational Therapy Center, the Madison County Truancy Alternative Program, the Madison County Arts Council and the Education for Employment project as programs administered and/or initiated by his office.

"The educational service region office in this county has a rich and valued tradition of serving the public and its local schools at the highest level of quality. HB 477 would only serve to eliminate the educational progress we've made over the years as a county."

In support of the programs cited by Briggs as cooperative efforts by local districts and his office, he said more than $2 million annually comes into this county from federal and state sources. "These dollars would not contribute to our economic vitality if the regional office were not in existence in Madison County. These funds have provided jobs as well as monies for the purchase of facilities, equipment and materials."

Besides the economic contributions that the regional office makes to the county and to the schools, Briggs cited, as the most important factor, the educational contribution that his office makes to local communities and to the young people in these communities.

"Because of our efforts, young people in Madison County have a choice. The program assistance they receive enables them to get a good education, despite personal problems."

The Educational Therapy Center is an alternative educational setting for kids who, because of problems, cannot succeed in a traditional school environment. The Madison County Truancy Alternative Program provides truants with diagnostic, remedial, and intervention services designed to keep students in school.

These two programs serve students who might not get any educational assistance if it weren't for the regional office, Briggs said.

On a different note, the Madison County Arts Council is an organization designed to provide educational programs in the arts to all schools in the county.

It has attracted dollars to Madison County from the Illinois Arts Council based in Chicago, from the National Endowment for the Arts based in Washington, and from numerous private sources in Madison County, including corporations, businesses and foundations.

The Madison County Arts Council also has provided numerous cultural experiences in the arts that children might never have had, he said. The programs sent out to schools each year serve 20,000 students annually.

Briggs said that a major function of his office, in addition to regulatory duties, has always been service. "The staff of the regional office has consistently sought creative ways to solve educational problems in our schools."

"We are probably one of the best problem-solving agencies in the local-state governmental structure. We are able to identify what's missing or needed, locate and coordinate diverse resources, and come up with workable solutions. Our record will verify that we have been successful."

Briggs summarized his objections to the bill by asking, "How can the Illinois State Board of Education be as accountable to Madison County citizens as an elected local official, like myself, can be?"

"Abolishing the elective office would only serve to further reduce the amount of local control that Madison County citizens have over their schools."

FLAG TO FLY: John Hamm III, Madison school board president, accepts a Prisoner of War/Missing in Action flag from Lester White, past post commander of VFW Post 7451 in Madison. Similar flags will fly with the American flag at all District 12 schools. District 12, schools, White said.

Students encourage graduation night safety

High school students from Edwardsville, Collinsville, Granite City, Roxana and Wood River will take part in a series of radio announcements. The aim of the campaign is to remind students that drugs and alcohol are substances to stay away from during graduation.

The announcements will be recorded by students and will carry the message, "If you're smart enough to graduate, you're smart enough to celebrate without drugs or alcohol."

The announcements will be heard throughout the day between April 10 and 16 on WRYT, 1080-AM.

Each of the five school districts will involve about five students in the broadcast project.

JOINS OHSAA: Kenneth R. Wojtowicz, a junior at Granite City High School, has been selected for membership by the Outstanding High School Students of America based on outstanding merit and accomplishment. He is the son of Robert and Eileen Wojtowicz, and the grandson of Edward and Tillie Wojtowicz, all of Granite City.

Firefighters praise Cruse leadership

March 26, 1989 Granite City Press-Record/Journal Sunday

To the editor:

At a time when our community is on the brink of industrial expansion, commercial growth, new employment opportunities, economic recovery, and a renewed sense of community spirit, it is truly unfortunate that there are still those malcontents who, through innuendo, distortion of the facts and half-truths, would seek to undermine the positive impact this new vitality will have on the entire community.

We're referring to the series of political ads that have been placed in the Granite City Journal by a group called "Friends to Elect Mac Warfield."

What is so alarming is not only do these ads abound with misrepresentations of the truth, i.e., fire department, utility tax, downtown redevelopment, etc., they cause presentation provides one with a wary insight into the acrimonious mind-set of these individuals. Since Mr. Warfield approves these ads, does it not follow that he is of like philosophy?

Is this the type of leadership that we in our community want in the mayor's office?

The ads further state that Mac "tells it like it is" and that "he is honest with the public." Well, friends of Mr. Warfield, why don't you tell the public that his brand of leadership appears to be based on fear and intimidation? Why don't you tell the public how he threatens to fire his employees if they oppose him politically? Why don't you tell the public how he has used and continues to use cronyism to serve his own needs? Maybe you have better check with the Street Department's present lack of unity and low morale before you tell us another one.

We're particularly incensed with the ad referring to the Fire Department, titled "Policies as Usual?" Since the group likes to refer to the record, let's do just that. As a matter of record, it was Mayor Von Dee Cruse who recognized the need to increase the staffing level of the Fire Department in order to provide a more effective and efficient service delivery function to the community.

As a matter of record, it was Mayor Cruse who implemented the paramedic/firefighter testing procedure to attract the most highly qualified candidates for the fire service to eliminate cronyism. Furthermore, in keeping with those same standards of highly qualified personnel, Mayor Cruse appointed a man who has an associate's degree in fire science and technology and is certified and registered with the Illinois Department of Transportation as an instructor in emergency rescue operations — as his new assistant fire chief.

Moreover, this present assistant fire chief is the first individual to occupy this position with such credentials. Incidentally, when this change took place, unity and morale were enhanced.

With respect to precinct committees, the group's candidate has "several" precinct committeemen in key supervisory positions within his employ. The old adage of "People who live in glass houses should not throw stones" certainly applies here, doesn't it? Maybe they should inventory their own house before they tell us another one.

In the ad titled "Leadership," the group asked why there is no unity of purpose. Contrary to the philosophy of leadership based on fear and intimidation, Mayor Cruse has brought the community out of the doldrums of complacency and negativity by creating a leadership style that is rooted in mutual trust, loyalty and cooperation.

Without loyalty, nothing is gained, and when loyalty is lost, it is lost. It is not something which can be gained through any force; it is something which can be bought or legislated by rules and regulations.

There is no greater force in the life of any administration than loyalty, and since it cannot be obtained through any of the ways just mentioned, then how did Mayor Cruse produce it?

A writer described this a long time ago when he wrote: Its origin is the human honor, the center of self-respect and human dignity... a force that leaps into being when conditions are right." Well, group, conditions are right.

By working diligently and quietly behind the scenes, Mayor Cruse has produced cooperation and trust based on at least two things: A common interest and a oneness of purpose.

It is through these accomplishments that Mayor Cruse has produced the spark which has ignited Granite City and enabled us, for the first time in a long time, to become a competitor in the marketplace.

This is his unity of purpose. Maybe the opposing group should look around at all the positive changes taking place before they tell us another one.

As for us and our households, we, as individual members of the Granite City Fire Department, applaud Mayor Cruse's efforts, and will enthusiastically support him on April 4. We sincerely hope the rest of the good people of this community will do the same.

Superintendents fight HB 477

SPRINGFIELD — Pending legislation to abolish educational service regions would increase costs, eliminate programs reaching hundreds of thousands of citizens and break faith with the voters of Illinois, education officials said in a new March 29 report.

"House Bill 477 would inflict damage to the educational system, costing millions to rectify," said Alan G. Lemons, Kansas County educational service region superintendent and president of the Illinois Association of Regional Superintendents of Schools.

In addition, this bill would eliminate vital programs that are unique to the needs of hundreds of thousands of citizens, and deny all Illinoisans the right to vote for the persons directly responsible for quality in their public schools," Lemons said.

HB 477 would eliminate the 57 educational service regions of Illinois and transfer the powers and duties to the State Board of Education in Springfield.

"This bill would have bureaucrats unknown to the people, far removed from voter accountability, making decisions that affect the daily operations of nearly 1,000 school districts in Illinois," Lemons said.

While deploring HB 477, Lemons said the IARSS and the regional superintendents must accept some of the blame for the fact that it has been proposed.

"We have been quietly — too quietly, I suppose — doing our jobs. We have perhaps not been effective enough at letting policymakers know of our contributions."

Regional superintendents provide direct services and assurance of compliance with state school law, as well as coordination of local school districts and county governments, and as a link with the State Board of Education.

You have to get up early to beat Bob Hyland

Radio played around the office by people younger than me (and who isn't?) are a reminder that tastes change regarding music and conversation. But I don't think I'm slipping behind the times.

It used to be that newspapers regarded radio stations suspiciously as businesses competing for the same advertising dollars, but now it seems to be the viewpoint that there probably is room for both print and broadcast media.

In any case, I confess that I do listen to the radio and that it usually is tuned not to a rock station but to KMOX, that giant of the AM dial at 1120.

DURING A COUPLE of hospitalizations in recent years, I found KMOX offered a comforting link to the workaday world.

Regional Roundup

By Bill Winter

especially in the wee hours of the night when sleep eluded me. It also has been a fine companion during evenings when I find myself unable to leave my desktop computer, such as this (March 27) evening.

I give most of the credit for the station's high caliber of programming to Robert F. "Bob" Hyland, its longtime leader. Since it is a 24-hour station, we're not supposed to regard it as unusual that he often reports to work at 2 a.m. or earlier to begin the day's tasks. He is said to be one who rewards talent generously and has a knack for getting the best performance out of each associate.

I HAVE HEARD him talk a couple of times but don't really know him. My only link is that my aunt, Ellen Buchheit Ankrum, who died in October 1988, many years ago was an executive secretary at KMOX.

Hyland was always kind to her and sometimes she would be a go-between for Lois and I to get tickets to attend such Columbia Broadcasting System television shows as What's My Line and the Ed Sullivan show.

Attending a live Sullivan program in New York City was quite an occasion. The show we saw featured such guests as Connie Francis and Bobby Vinton. It was Sullivan's birthday. Frank Sinatra brought a lighted birthday cake onto the stage but didn't sing that night except for leading the birthday song.

Hyland was thoughtful enough to telephone and verify that the ticket arrangements had worked out well.

JOURNAL COVERAGE by Lucyann Boston this winter told of him being honored as the 1988 St. Louis Man of the Year.

As senior vice president of CBS Radio and general manager of KMOX Radio and KLOU-FM, Hyland's voice and views are broadcast daily into homes throughout eastern Missouri and western Illinois.

He is not only the creator of the Voice of St. Louis (a phrase used to promote KMOX Radio), he is an integral part of the community's body and soul," said August A. Busch III, who presented the award to Hyland in ceremonies at the St. Louis Zoo's Living World education center.

Busch, chairman of the board and president of Anheuser-Busch Cos. Inc., was the recipient of the previous year's Man of the Year Award, which goes to "the person who best exemplifies an inspiring level of civic and industrial leadership."

THE AWARD WAS BEGUN in 1955 by the Globe-Democrat and now is bestowed by a not-for-profit organization composed of previous honorees.

Hyland, president of the St. Louis Zoological Commission, was the driving force behind the creation of the $17-million, state-of-the-art Living World center. He selected the Zoo as the setting for the award presentation.

In addition to receiving the man of the year citation, which described Hyland as "a visionary with the soul of a fighter" and "an activist whose bold leadership is tempered with compassion," Hyland was praised in a letter from President George Bush for "values and deep caring that make you a comet among a thousand points of light."

HYLAND SAID his "roots grow deep" in St. Louis, which he said combines "respect for the past with vision and energy for the future. St. Louis is simultaneously stable and dynamic."

While praising the bi-state area, Hyland noted areas that he feels need to be improved, including city/county cooperation, education, and an ongoing commitment to the quality of life through better health care, transportation, road systems and "a culture that exemplifies innovation, creativity and excellence."

"Nothing worthwhile is accomplished in this world without total dedication and commitment," Hyland said. "I challenge the young men and women of the St. Louis area to step forward and truly commit themselves to our community."

HIS OWN COMMITMENTS have included serving as head of the Regional Commerce and Growth Association, Downtown

St. Louis Inc., Municipal Theater Association, Variety Club and Advertising Club of St. Louis.

He is chairman of the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial, chairman of the St. Louis Regional Medical Center, and board chairman of St. Anthony's Medical Center.

At St. Anthony's, he founded the Hyland Center for the treatment of alcoholism and drug abuse.

JUNIOR ACHIEVEMENT has been one of my interests, and I recall that the year Hyland served as meeting chairman for the annual Mississippi Valley JA banquet honoring students of Granite City, Madison, Venice and many other high schools, he not only arranged for the region's top band to provide dinner music but also persuaded Jack Buck to be the toastmaster.

Speaking of Hyland and Buck, I note that another Cardinal baseball season will begin next week.

And it's a pretty good guess that I'll be listening to more than a few Busch Stadium games described by Buck over this region's most-listened-to radio station.

Hartigan opposes electric rate hike

Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan has presented the Illinois Commerce Commission with arguments that a proposed rate increase for Illinois Power Company is excessive and must be substantially reduced.

The utility disagrees and says a larger increase is needed to keep the company in a sound financial position.

"The company requested a 12.5 percent rate increase to help pay for the cost of constructing its new Clinton nuclear-powered plant," Hartigan said.

"On Feb. 10, an ICC hearing officer recommended allowing a 9.1 percent increase. Although this reduction in the company's requested rate increase is a step in the right direction, it simply doesn't go far enough."

It would be outrageous for consumers to face higher utility bills just because Illinois Power mismanaged construction of the nuclear plant. The commission should take a serious look at all the facts in this case before approving any increase in rates."

In a brief filed Feb. 24 with the ICC, Hartigan said the hearing officer's recommendation was based on inaccurate information as to the impact of the Clinton electricity generating plant and the amount of money the company "misspent" on the facility.

The proposed 5.1 percent rate increase would generate an additional $44.8 million annually to help the company pay a portion of the $3.8 billion spent on the Clinton plant.

In arriving at the 5.1 proposed increase, the hearing examiner removed about $712 million from the amount the company is entitled to recover from customers.

Nearly twice that amount should be removed, in Hartigan's opinion.

HAVING INHERITED a plantation, Chevy Chase returns as I.M. Fletcher in "Fletch Lives."

Chevy more like Edsel in newest 'Fletch' flick

"Fletch Lives" (R) is a shapeless sequel to the big hit from 1985. Unlike "Fletch," the sequel has nothing substantial in the way of a love story or semi-believable comedy conflict. Even the other characters surrounding Chevy Chase's Fletcher seem insipid and pointless this time around.

Fletch has inherited Belle Isle, an 80-acre plantation in Louisiana, from a wealthy aunt who has passed away. Sensing instant wealth, Fletch resigns his post as an investigative reporter in Los Angeles and flies south to take occupancy of the old homestead.

A beautiful young attorney, Amanda Ray Ross (Patricia Kalember), meets him at the airport and treats him to some real Southern hospitality the first night he is in town. But in the morning, Fletch wakes up to find Amanda dead in the bed.

Amanda's mysterious death is ruled a heart attack, but Fletch knows better. Soon he is getting the message that although Belle Isle is run-down, it remains a very valuable piece of property to many people who want Fletch to sell it right away, including a television evangelist named Jimmy Lee Farnsworth (R. Lee Ermy) who wants the land in order to expand his Bibleland amusement park.

Hal Holbrook appears as Ham Johnson, a neighboring attorney who helps spring Fletch from a local jail and gives him what seems to be sound advice on what to do with Belle Isle.

"Fletch Lives" as Calculus, Fletch's late aunt's live-in yardman.

Chase gets to wear false teeth and appear in a sequence that is a combination of animation and live action. He looks goofy playing five other characters called Elmer Fudd Gantry, Billy Gene King, Claude Henry Smoot, Bobby Lee Swartz and Ed Harley.

But the comedic material in "Fletch Lives" is the stuff of skits, not a feature-length film. There are some sporadic moments of high humor, but on balance, the film starts to slide downhill from the first reel and the problems gather momentum from there.

'Macbeth' to be performed

The Arts League Players of Edwardsville will perform William Shakespeare's "Macbeth" at 8:15 p.m. today (Thursday) through Saturday, March 30-31, and Saturday, April 1, in the James F. Metcalf Theater on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Tickets for the production are $5; seniors and students with identification, $3.50. Reservations are recommended by calling 656-9052. Arrangements for handicapped access may also be made by calling the same number.

Latecomers — with or without reservations, with season tickets or advance tickets — will not be seated.

"Macbeth," Shakespeare's shortest tragedy, unfolds like a nightmare, where unnatural desires, bloody deeds, and thick night grow to haunt the natural world.

This production is funded in part by grants from the Southern Illinois Arts, a regional agency; the Illinois Arts Council, a state agency; and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Chieftains 'celebrate' 25th anniversary

By Paul A. Harris
Staff affiliate

The Chieftains, who performed before a sold-out Westport Playhouse audience in early February, are marking their Silver Anniversary in 1989. For 25 years, they have brought the instrumental polish of a world-class chamber ensemble upon the folk music of Ireland.

To mark the anniversary, RCA has released "A Chieftains Celebration," an 11-tune recording with a sampling of most everything the group does exceptionally well. As one would expect, there is an abundance of dance music from around the British Isles. "The Iron Man" is a medley arranged by fiddler Sean Keane, comprised of traditional Scottish dance tunes. "O'Mahoney's Frolics," arranged by piper Paddy Moloney, is a double jig that features solo work by each member of the sextet.

The Chieftains have been an integral part of the international folk music scene for a quarter of a century, so it is only natural that the group's individual performers have come into wide recognition. This certainly is the case with harper Derek Bell.

Bell's arrangement on this disc is that of a medley of tunes by the 18th century blind Irish harp player/composer Turlough O'Carolan. It is largely through Bell's performances on Chieftains' albums through the years, not to mention his contributions to the excellent soundtrack to Stanley Kubrick's film "Barry Lyndon," that listeners in the U.S. know of O'Carolan's music.

"A Chieftains Celebration," their third recording for RCA, proves to be an entirely worthy, straightforward production.

'Farewell to King' does little for Nolte

Nick Nolte, a snaggle-toothed dragon tattooed on his chest, has a good thing going among the poor heathens of Borneo for a while in "Farewell to the King" (3%). But the film is not his best by a long shot.

The film has been adapted from a novel by Pierre Schoen-dorffer and has some good quality jungle photography. But the furnishings used in some interiors look like they came straight out of a Pier 1 Imports store.

The picture is at least 20 minutes too long and full of stereotyped characters and routinely staged jungle battles.

More depressing still is the plight of the actors, highly respectable people such as Nigel Havers, James Fox and Frank MacRae.

In the movie, the curtain is coming down on World War II

'Troop Beverly Hills' a passable comedy with funny sight gags

Perhaps "Troop Beverly Hills" (4*) should be reviewed by a mother with daughters at home, preferably young ladies who are Girl Scouts. Maybe they would find more relevance in this self-serving comedy. Then again, maybe not.

How many ladies involved as adult leaders in Girl Scout activities go camping with their troops while clad in a white mink?

Shelley Long, looking at times like she is trying to do her best Lucille Ball imitation, plays Phyllis Nefler, a well-to-do Beverly Hills housewife. Right away, Long's character raises a basic question. Do "housewives" really exist in Beverly Hills? According to this film, they do and Mrs. Nefler is one who is out to prove that she can do more than prove the store fronts of Rodeo Drive and take the meaning of the words "credit limit" to new heights.

On the verge of a divorce from her husband Freddy, played by Craig T. Nelson of "Futurama" fame, Phyllis takes over the leadership of her daughter Hannah's scouting group, the Wilderness Girls. Hannah is played by Jenny Lewis. The move is an effort on Phyllis' part to get closer to her daughter and prove to her husband that she is good for something other than pedicures.

But Phyllis has her doubters: not the least of which is Velda Plender, the regional director of the Wilderness Girls. Plender is played by veteran character actress Betty White, who is one of the few people in this picture who give their roles some dimension. Velda believes Phyllis is a well-meaning phony.

Long gets ample opportunity for calamitous, physical comedy in "Troop Beverly Hills." It is an aspect of her overall talent at which she is especially adept and it shows in shots of her falling off a garden wall, balancing on a log and doing lots of other scenes where comic movement is the message.

"Troop Beverly Hills" is a buddy comedy with nice sight gags and passable comedy.

Rated PG. Running time: 105 minutes. Rating based on four stars.

A political candidate can easily be tempted to retaliate in-kind against the various political advertisements containing half-truths, innuendoes and misleading statements that seem to be oozing from a certain political faction involved in the upcoming city-wide election. I, personally, have chosen to follow Mayor Von Dee Cruse's example and run a clean, dignified, campaign - To run on my record, absent the political mudslinging. Unfortunately, one must occasionally address one of these ads to preserve the public's trust in their City government. In response to Mr. Erv DeRousse's March 26th political advertisement concerning delinquent "sewer fees," the simple, easily verified truth is that on delinquent sewer accounts totaling $1,992,178.00, either liens have been placed on the property serviced or lawsuits have been filed. These are acceptable legal avenues open to the City, and they have been pursued. The remaining balance is mostly good people behind on their bills for their own PRIVATE reasons.

To my knowledge, the City has never had the policy of turning delinquent sewer accounts over to a collection agency, plugging sewer lines or taking people's property from them to collect sewer bills. As City Treasurer, I am in contact with fellow residents and friends everyday, and as long as I am the City Treasurer, I intend to treat the people of this city with dignity and respect - even Mr. DeRousse.

DOWNTOWN SWEEPSTAKES

Remember to look in your Journal the last Friday of the month for the special "Downtown" section. Each month sponsors will give away wonderful prizes that will have you dining, dancing and having the time of your life in Downtown St. Louis.

Just fill out the entry form above, and you could be one of three winners of the following:

—Grand Prize
$50 gift certificate good at any Union Station shop or restaurant

—Second Prize
Tickets to opening night of the Muny's "Chorus Line" at Forest Park.

—Third Prize
A $60 gift certificate from the Journals to Miss Hullings.

All entrance forms must be returned by April 20. Winners will be announced in the April 26 issue of the Suburban Journals.

Rooting against Illini? Not really

I am an alumnus of the University of Illinois, Class of 1983, and proud of it.

Having said that, you would think that I would be on top of the world this week, my buttons bursting with pride over the performance of my old school's basketball team.

As everyone knows, the Fighting Illini — now more commonly known as the Flying Illians — have reached the Final Four for the first time in 37 years. They are two wins away from the first national championship in school history, and the oddsmakers have placed them behind only Duke as favorites to grab the brass ring.

But this is one U of I alumnus who isn't going wild over all this excitement. This attitude of mine has caused many people untold grief over the years, and I can't understand why.

It's as simple as this: I became a University of Missouri fan at an early age and have remained so. My cousin enrolled at Missouri in the fall of 1970, just eight months after the Tigers made their last Orange Bowl appearance. He became a manager for the football team, we went to Columbia for a couple of games and that was it.

The 1970s were a good time to be a Tiger fan, particularly in football. Al Onofrio's teams scored all those amazing upset of college football's greatest powers in their own stadiums: Notre Dame, Alabama, USC and Ohio State.

When I enrolled at Illinois in 1979, I honestly didn't know if I would become an Illinois fan myself. But Missouri beat them in both football and basketball my freshman year and that clinched it for good. I just never got into the flow in Champaign. That caused some interesting debates with the people I knew at school, but it was always good-natured. My finest hour came when my sophomore year in 1980, when Missouri's Steve Bradley, James Wilder and Eric Wright, crushed Illinois 52-7.

My four years in college coincided with the Stipanovich-Sundevold era at Mizzou, while the Tiger football team had Bradley and Co. But Illinois' fortunes went up in both sports during the '80s, culminating for Mike White's football team in 1983 — the year after I graduated — when they went undefeated in the Big Ten and went to the Rose Bowl.

Their only regular-season loss? You guessed it. A 23-18 decision in Columbia on opening day.

Basketball was another story. Although the Tigers consistently do well in Big Eight play, they have lost their last six tries against Illinois. Some of those were deserved. Others came in years in which the Tigers were expected to have beaten them. This year's clash was a true showdown between two of the best teams in the country, with the Illini pulling it out by three points in the final minute before a capacity crowd at the St. Louis Arena.

I dreamed of the Tigers getting one more crack at the Illini in Sunday's Midwest Regional final in Minneapolis, but Missouri lost to what I firmly believe was an inferior Syracuse team in Friday's semifinal. I was really surprised Illinois didn't beat the Orangemen easier than they did in the final.

So Lou Henson's team moves on. Contrary to what many people think, and I've probably done my share in promoting the impression, I don't dislike the Illini. For the record, it's a marvelous team, as anyone can tell by watching them play just one game. There's even a player, Larry Smith, from my hometown of Alton.

But I've just been amazed over the years by people whom I would think have a lot more to worry about than which team I root for. They throw their hands in the air in bewilderment at why I don't cheer orange and blue. Some of them aren't even Illinois fans themselves. I was never an Illinois fan growing up, so it would be the ultimate in front running if I jumped on the bandwagon now.

But good luck, Illini. You might meet with Ken Battle and Lowell Hamilton less than 100 percent against a red-hot Michigan team. The Wolverine players deserve whatever they can get after the raw deal dealt them by former coach Bill Frieder.

It wouldn't crush me to see Michigan move to the championship game. But no folks, it wouldn't crush me to see the Fighting Illini move on, either.

High-flying Lady Warriors blast McCluer

LIA MENDOZA moves the ball downfield for the Lady Warriors as Granite City goes on yet another offensive rush. Granite City's team has scored 17 goals in getting off to a 2-0 start. They play at Oakville on Friday at 6 p.m., and face Mehlville at Oakville on Saturday at 6:15. Both games are part of the R-9 Tournament, which also features Aquinas.

Witter, Moniz stay hot in 7-0 rout of Comets

By Dave Whaley

FLORISSANT, Mo. — The Lady Warriors have hit North County like your typical spring tornado.

Although skies were threatening on both Monday and Tuesday, the rains never fell on Gene Baker's team. The same can't be said for their first two opponents, Ritenour on Monday and McCluer on Tuesday, were washed away in a flood of Granite City goals.

The latest cloudburst was Tuesday's 7-0 waxing of the McCluer Comets. Freshman Amanda Witter had three goals, and two assists while senior Cheryl Stacey picked up two more assists as the Lady Warriors upped their record to 2-0. And they have scored 17 goals in those two games, having routed Ritenour 10-1 on Monday.

"The girls played just a terrific first half," said Baker. "This team (McCluer) has some talent. But we just went out and created opportunities."

It's easy to be greedy in the wake of all the early offense, but it's not stretching the point to say the Lady Warriors could have had a couple more goals. As it was, they got more than enough as new stars continued to emerge.

Witter now has five goals in her first two varsity games. Moniz has four goals and three assists. Stacey has five assists. A total of 13 players — only three of them seniors — have already reached the scoresheet. Senior Jennifer Debeve has been stretching the point to "only" two goals and an assist. It's quite a difference from last year when Debeve and Ann Szczepanik dominated the scoresheet, particularly early in the season.

The balance in the scoring has been the nicest thing so far," said Baker. "I haven't seen too much to be unhappy about so far. This was a terrible field to play on, but we adjusted."

While the Lady Warriors poured it on McCluer keeper Tracy Merello, who faced 28 shots, the Granite City defense gave senior keeper Chris Kasproh a virtual afternoon off. She handled the ball a few times, but the Comets had no shots all day and threatened only a couple times to get one. Baker's main concern so far has been to straighten out the goal-keeping situation, but there was no need for concern in the first two games as the Lady Warriors allowed only one fluky goal in Monday's game.

Witter opened the game's scoring as she had on Monday on a similar play. Moniz had the ball on the right side and centered it to Witter waiting at the left post and she banged it in.

Carrie Ross banged one off the crossbar 10 minutes later, then Morello stepped Witter, Addie Lenzi and Moniz in close. But Stacey sent Witter in alone at 31:00 and she sent a left-footer into the far corner.

"She's not surprising me," Baker said. "Witter's early hot streak. 'Amanda's a good player. I've had her in my camps for a few years."

Granite City continued to pour it on, with senior Rene Walker forcing a McCluer mistake at 35:00 and Moniz converting Stacey's centering pass just before halftime. Witter then completed her hat trick in the first minute of the second half when Morello muffed Lenzi's shot from the right wing. The ball went to the crease to Witter, who had an empty net.

Warriors, Oilers spend 'wasted day' on field

Sometimes you win
Sometimes you lose
Sometimes you get rained out.
— Terry Cashman

Executive sports editor

WOOD RIVER — The above lyric from baseball's balladeer evokes one of the game's more romantic parts. But there was very little romance in Wednesday's would-be game between the Warriors and the Wood River Oilers.

The only romance this resembled was the one between "Moonlighting's" David Addison

GRANITE CITY	WOOD RIVER	SCORE	TIME
GRANITE CITY: Ryan 1B, RBI	WOOD RIVER: Zipes 1B, RBI; Olsen 2B, RBI; Borman 3B, RBI; Moore 1B, RBI; Berry 2B, RBI; Walsh 1B, RBI	3-2	1-2 and Maddie Hayes.

The Warriors and Oilers battled through two hours of controversy and confusion without reaching a decision. The game was called at the conclusion of the fourth inning with Wood River leading 6-2. It was too cold, too wet and — most of all — too dark to continue.

"It just wasn't worth the risk to continue," said Warrior coach

Bob Stegemeier, who spent what he called a "wasted day" in his old hometown. "They had a kid hit by a pitch in the last inning that he just had no chance to see. I could barely see the ball from our bench. If they hadn't called it, I might have taken our team off the field and forfeited."

About the only saving grace from the confusion was that the Warriors didn't lose, although they probably deserved to. They failed to hit with men on base and the pitching was nothing to write home about.

Both teams had men all over the basepaths all day. Between that and a pair of lively debates with the umpires, it was inevitable that the whole game would not be played, because it was already fairly dark when the game began at 4 p.m.

So the game goes down as a non-event. None of the statistics even count, so the accompanying box score will no doubt become a collector's item worth millions someday.

But the game was anything but uneventful. Chad Lignou walked to start the game and was at third with one out when Joe Wallace grounded to third. Chris Ufert's throw to catcher Chris Moore was in time, but Lignou appeared to slide around Moore and touch him with his hand. But he was called out.

The Oilers put runners at second and third with one out in the bottom of the first against Warrior starter Tim Black when cleanup hitter Chris Booher was called out for using an illegal bat. The Warrior bench spotted that the bat did not have the required tape on the middle of the handle.

"It's a rule that was put in about five years ago," said Stegemeier. "It's there to make the

Leonard, Dandridge lead Trojan runners to first and second

A year ago, Jessie Leonard and Ian Smith formed a lethal one-two punch for the Trojan track team. With Smith having transferred to Vashon High School, Leonard was left as the team's top performer, and he has done quite nicely so far.

Leonard took three first places in each of two meets this week. The Trojans won a tri-meet at Bethalto on Monday with 61 points and finished second to Chester in a four-team meet at Red Bud on Tuesday.

Leonard won the 100 meters, the 400 meters and his specialty, the long jump, in both meets. On Monday, he won the 100 in 11.1 the 400 in 52.8 and the long jump with a leap of 21-10. On Tuesday, he won the 100 in 11.2, the 400 in 52.9 and the long jump with his best leap of the year, 22-8.

Other firsts on Monday went to the 400 relay team of Tony Treadway, Darnell Dandridge, Paris Johnson and Leonard (45.2); the 800 relay team of Treadway, Harold Moody, Dandridge and Johnson (1:37.3); the 600 relay team of Treadway, Alphonso Brandon, Sherwin Coleman and Moody (3:55.9); Scott Kostelnick in the 110 high hurdles (17.6); Dandridge in the 200 meters (24.3) and also in the triple jump (40-6).

Second went to the 3200 relay team of Kostelnick, Eric Richardson, Brandon and Moody (9:46.1); Kostelnick in the 300 intermediate hurdles (48.9); and Robert Pritchard in the shot put.

SFU unique opportunity for student-athletes

Soccer in Scotland. Basketball in Belgium. Gymnastics in Germany. Swimming in Sweden. Golf in Australia.

Sport For Understanding (SFU), an international non-profit exchange program, enters its seventh year, offering student-athletes from across the country sports travel opportunities with 60 teams visiting more than 17 countries this summer.

SFU participants and their volunteer coaches live with host families during their month-long stay, experiencing the country's life first-hand while bettering their sports skills. Sport participation — training and competition — is usually scheduled daily; the remaining time is spent sightseeing and learning about the country's culture with the host families.

"Our philosophy and objectives are quite simple," said executive director Dick Willard. "Sport is the most universal medium available for bringing diverse peoples together. But instead of solely focusing on competition, SFU believes the program must be equally balanced between personal, educational and cooperative aspects of sports. Through scheduled activities of internationally-mixed training, shared coaches, the exchange of ideas and techniques, jointly experience social activities and the participation of host families, we believe we can foster a more cooperative world."

Two years ago, SFU offered its first basketball team traveling to Russia. Last year's coach, Randy Hansen of Everett, Wash., shares this experience: "After a game in Moscow, we had dinner with the Soviet players. Our interpreter helped with questions. We sat, talked and laughed for 2 and a half hours. It was great. I know that was a time that none of us will ever forget."

"Our programs are geared towards the average or recreational athlete," said Willard. "Not for the elite who have already had many opportunities to compete and train internationally."

Many SFU teams may compete in regional or national events, as well as observing internationally-famous events such as Wimbledon and the British Open. For instance, this year's soccer teams will have the opportunity to compete in the Stockholm and Norway international soccer cups.

In this its seventh year, SFU will organize some 60 teams in more than 20 different sports to travel abroad to destinations in Europe, Asia and the Pacific, and Latin America. All SFU teams are filled on a "first come" basis. To qualify, players must be ages 14-19, be active in their chosen sport, and have a GPA of at least 2.0.

"My game got better as well as my mind," said Richard Brest, of Stamford, Conn., a member of the SFU tennis team which traveled to Holland. "We trained well together as a team. It was the best time of my life — a fulfilling, enriching, once-in-a-lifetime experience."

Brian Ashbrook from E. Waukegan, Wis., was a member of the SFU diving team which visited Germany last summer.

"We were taught to have a great time and winning was meant to be part of the fun," he said. "The coach was a great coach; he taught me so much about body control."

A member of the squash team which visited Australia, Peam Rankin of Southport, Conn., said, "I really got the feeling that our coach was much more concerned about how we played, not if we won or lost. This attitude started to rub off on me as I improved, and it really helped my game."

"Games and practices were frequent," said Andrew Harth of New York City, who traveled to Australia last year with the SFU ice hockey team. "I learned to really get along with a team. It was a fabulous hockey experience."

Last summer, SFU sent more than 500 youths, aged 14-19, comprising 43 teams in 15 different sports to Europe, Asia, Australia and Latin America.

In addition to the opportunities for students to travel abroad, SFU also arranges for teams from around the world to visit America. U.S. teams and clubs across the country are needed to serve as hosts for the more than 70 teams which are due to arrive in 1989.

Rod Hernandez of Fremont, Calif., will serve as a host coach for a soccer team from Italy this summer. This will be Hernandez' third hosting experience.

"Having a foreign team is an incredible experience for everyone involved," he said. "My role was simply to get the best out of it and that wasn't so difficult to do with the outpouring of help and support from families in the area and community businesses and shops. SFU has quite a reputation in the community; everyone wants to help. It's a once-in-a-lifetime experience for the kids. They've developed some profound friendships that continue long after our visitors leave."

SFU is a program of Youth For Understanding Inc., one of the largest international student exchange organizations. SFU has exchanged more than 130,000 students on year, semester and summer programs in the last 36 years and maintains offices in the U.S. and in 26 countries around the world.

For further information on the wide variety of programs offered, write to Sport For Understanding, Department C-111, 3501 Neward Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20016, or call 1-800-424-3691.

Goals

Not wanting to get lost in the crowd, Debevoise, the All-American who led the way with 14 goals last year, scored off an assist from Sherry Simpson before sophomore Jennifer Harper finished the scoring on a pass from Lia Mendoza with 10 minutes left.

"We need to get a little stronger and get the goalkeeping situation figured out," Baker said.

Other than that, he was hard-pressed to see anything wrong in the first two games.

(35-54). Thirds went to Kostetich in the 800 run (2:30.9); Mike Barnett in the 200 (25.4); and Johnson in the long jump (18-2).

Piasa Southwestern was second with 22 points and Civic Memorial was third with 51.

Chester won Tuesday's meet with 167 points while the Trojans had 78 points.

"We lost the meet because of three events (two-mile run, 800 run and the mile run) where Chester took first and second place and we didn't place," said Trojan coach Charles Septoe. "Those were worth 10 points each."

In addition to Leonard's three firsts, the Trojans got first-place performances from the 400 relay team of Treadway, Dandridge, Johnson and Leonard (44.8); the 800 relay team of Derek Williams, Treadway, Dandridge and Johnson (1:38); and Dandridge in the triple jump (39-3 1/2).

Second went to the two-mile relay team of Dennis Pinero, Richardson, Moody and Brandon (9:55.2); the mile relay team of Pinero, Coleman, Brandon and Moody (4:06.5); Moody in the 400 (55.3); Treadway in the 200 (24.6); and Derek Williams in the high jump (5-4). Thirds went to Johnson in the 100 (12.1); Brandon in the 900 (2:27.1); Mike Barnett in the 200 (26.1); Pritchard in the shot put (33-8 1/2) and the discus (108-2); Johnson in the long jump (19-4); and Moody in the triple jump (36-11).

The Trojans will run again at Weslin on Tuesday.

Waste

spot above which you can't put any foreign substance on the bat (remember George Brett's pine tar home run?). It's a stupid rule, but it's in the book."

The Orlers failed to score, but got single runs off Black in the second and Kevin Wozniak in the third. The Warriors tied the game in the fourth, but not without more controversy. Keith Matlock scored on Chris Ryan's hit—the only Warrior hit of the day.

Chris Bartling hit one back to Farmer, who threw home where Jeff Thompson was tagged out. Thompson didn't slide, so Thompson was automatically ejected. Lignoul then grounded to third. The throw was wide and first baseman Boomer caught it on the home plate side and tagged Lignoul.

The ball popped loose and Ryan scored the tying run while Bartling raced to third. But then the umpires changed their call and Lignoul was out. Jeff Kohler grounded to second to end the inning.

Stegemeier and assistant coach Jack Parker argued long and loud about the call on Lignoul, but to no avail. Stegemeier wouldn't comment on the record about the umpiring after the game, but he was clearly less than thrilled.

The Orlers unloaded on Wozniak and Chris Wiehardt in the bottom of the fourth for four runs.

"We're not swinging the bats at all," said Stegemeier. "Chris Ryan had the only good swing of the day. Our pitchers aren't making good two-strike pitches. We're just in an overall slump."

But the record remains at 1-1 with a single game at Francis Howell North (in St. Charles) today at 4 p.m. New Lenox Providence comes to Varsity Field for a 4:30 p.m. double-header Friday.

To the Warrior fans who didn't make the trip to Wood River on Wednesday, you should have bought a lottery ticket. It was obviously your lucky day.

Tri-City Speedway play day Saturday

Tri-City Speedway will hold an open house Saturday from noon to 4 p.m.

The open house play day will give cars and drivers a chance to tune up and make final adjustments for the 1989 season. There will be late model stock cars, sprint cars, mighty midgets, sportsman's cars, street stocks and many more.

There will be no charge for admission to the grandstand. There will be a $3 charge to enter the pits to cover the cost of insurance.

The speedway has been making lots of improvements such as painting, fence building, grading work and much more under the direction of new owners Harry and Doris Alton.

Magrane will trade potential for wins

By Rob Rains
Staff affiliate

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — It's almost as if his name has been legally changed to Joe "Potential" Magrane.

And Magrane is getting sick of it. "I'm tired of people talking about my potential," Magrane said. "It's time for drawing that potential out into a real active performance on a day-to-day basis."

The lefthanded starter's name and "potential" first were linked in 1985, when he was selected by the Cardinals in the first round of the free agent draft.

He heard it later that year and again in 1986, as he marched quickly through the Cardinal farm system. In 1987, he was headed for a .87 record as a 23-year-old rookie with the major league club when the word blared out at him again.

And last year, there it was again when — despite winning just five games — Magrane won the National League earned run average title with a mark of 2.18.

Magrane wants 1989 to be the year he stops hearing about what he should be able to accomplish.

"This should be the year that I draw on everything I've learned the last two years," Magrane said. "There should be no excuse why I shouldn't be a big winner."

Magrane said the biggest thing he has learned in his two seasons in the majors is the attitude required to be a successful pitcher.

"My first year, in a couple of starts I had a negative attitude," Magrane said. "I was pitching not to lose as opposed to pitching to win. Now I'm pitching aggressively and rearing back and challenging hitters. That comes with confidence."

And Magrane is confident this is going to be a good year.

"I'm my own worst critic and I'm not really going to rest until I become the kind of pitcher I'm capable of becoming, and I think that's someone who can win 20 games," Magrane said.

Cardinal manager Whitey Herzog and pitching coach Mike Roark share that opinion, primarily because of the improvements Magrane has made in his game over the last two years, such as his ability to hold runners on base.

"A year ago his move to first was almost non-existent," Roark said. "Guys weren't fearful about him picking them off. Now we've shortened his stride, and he's found out that it didn't really take anything away from his velocity."

"He has the stuff and he has the ability to be a big winner. He's been in the league a couple of years now and he knows what it takes to get hitters out. There's no reason why he can't keep progressing."

That certainly is what Magrane and the Cardinals are counting on, especially with righthander Danny Cox out for the year because of elbow surgery and the uncertain health of other members of the starting rotation.

Magrane said he has learned that he can't worry about who is or isn't healthy or try to make up for people who aren't able to pitch.

Magrane knows the loss of Cox is a big blow to the staff, but he also knows that doesn't mean he's going to start 60 games instead of 30.

JOE MAGRANE is scheduled to start the Cardinals' season opener in New York on Monday.

"I don't have any extra expectations with Danny out," Magrane said. "We're all very sorry for Danny. But it's not going to put any undue stress on me."

"I just want to win some games and help the team win. My goal is to get back to the World Series. We got there my first year and that was a rare opportunity. But all I was really doing was trying not to embarrass myself. I wasn't able to have fun and enjoy it. I want to have that opportunity again."

Pitching makes Mets favored again in East

By Rob Rains
Staff affiliate

The New York Mets would probably be ranked by most observers as the favorites to win the National League East even if they didn't have a lineup that includes Darryl Strawberry and Kevin McReynolds.

The reason is the Mets' pitching staff, the best and deepest of any team in baseball. "The Mets' staff last year led the National League in ERA, strikeouts, fewest walks and fewest home runs allowed. Their group of starters — Dwight Gooden, David Cone, Ron Darling, Sid Fernandez and Bob Ojeda — could probably all be No. 1 or No. 2 pitchers on any other staff in the division."

Add to that staff lefthander Randy Myers, one of the top closers in the game, and righthander Roger McDowell, and it's easy to see why other teams don't like playing the Mets — even without having to face their regular lineup.

And that lineup also is solid, led by Strawberry and McReynolds. Keith Hernandez and Gary Carter are starting to age, but should still have another good year left in them. Add to that solid foundation Gregg Jefferies, who is the odds-on favorite to be the league's rookie of the year, and you know why the Mets are favored to repeat as division champions.

If there's anything that can keep the Mets from repeating, it will be internal strife. Despite all his talent, Strawberry, with problems ranging from dissatisfied with his salary to run-ins with teammates, is a walking time bomb. If that bomb explodes, the impact could be felt throughout the division.

Of all the teams trying to challenge the Mets, the one with the best possible chance to catch them is the Cardinals. The Mets fear the Cardinals the most, and Whitey Herzog has a habit of producing miracles for teams that, on paper, don't have the greatest amount of talent. Without adding another starting pitcher, however, the Cardinals don't appear to have enough pitching to pull off that miracle this year.

The Pirates have come a long way in a short amount of time, but they have to prove now they are ready to take the next step or else they will fall backward. Andy Van Slyke is one of the top players starting to age in the league, but the Pirates — like every other team in the division — don't have the pitching to challenge the Mets.
